> Washington, April 14.-Congressman Shattuc, of Ohio, yesterday nominated D. J. Bundy, a colored lad of Cincinnati, to a cadetship at Annapolis.

He has been urged to withdraw the name, but says he will stand by the appointment. There have been some murmurs of disapproval from the Navat academy and threats of the students to resign.

"The boy earned the appointment fairly," said General Shattuc today. "There was a competitive examination and two colored lads, one of them Bundy, outstripped their Caucasian competitors. One of them, however, proved to be over twenty and was therefore disbarred. I had told them the competition was open to every eligible boy in my district. Bundy, who won, is one of the handsomest boys I ever saw. Yesterday I sent his name to the secretary of the navy and he will be appointed.

"I have received no communication from the students at Annapolis on the subject, but several congressmen have told me that it was an unwritten law not to allow a colored boy at Annapolis. They told me if persisted it would break up the school; that other students would resign.

"'Let them resign and be damned,' I replied. 'That boy earned his appointment fairly and I am going to see that he goes to Annapolis and receive fair treatment if it is in my power to do so.""

General Shattuc says he has 7,500 negroes in his district.

Insurgents Landed a Big Cargo of Guns at Banes.

Havana via Key West, April 14.—Banes an important port on the north coast, near Gibari, from which go heavy annual exportations of benanas and cocoanuts to the United States, and which is the site of the estate of H. Dumos & Co., narrowly escaped total destruction

The expedition under General Roloff, on the steamer Laurada, carrying 240 rifles, 5,000 cartridges and several pieces of rapid firing artillery, landed alongside the quay of Banes. General Calixto Garcia, with five housand men, came to protect the convoy of arms and ammunition, but as Roloff had no men to arm Garcia was compelled to carry the arms into the interior.

It is reported that the insurgents, hearing that a Spanish gunboat might arrive at any moment, closed the entrance of the port with torpedoes, General Roloff, assisted by local bands and finally by the soldiers under General Garcia, commenced to fortify the heights around the port, hastily casting up trenches to make the port temporarily impregnable to any spanish forces in the neighborhood of Giberi.

The gunboats Nurra, and Panas and Mealicis had arrived at Tipe from Havana. The cruiser Reina Mercedes had left Havans on the 12th with four companies of marines and infantry under the command of Rear Admiral Marengo, to unite with all the forces which left Nine and Gibari with a view to combined land and sea attack upon the insurgents' position, for the recovery of the port of Banes. Evidently an important battle is in sight, if the insurgents try to defend their advantageous stronghold and their claim of being able to hold a seaport.

Great anxiety exists with reference to the garrison of 100 men in the fort defending the quay at Banes.

It is believed they will be compelled to surrender for lack of water and supplies. The cruiser Pingon has twice been compelled to break chains in order to enter the Banes port.

ARTHUR E. COLE IS ARRESTED | SAUCY LASS WITH OFFICERS TOOK CHARGE OF HIM EARLY THIS MORNING.

Detectives Believe He Knows Some thing About the Murder of a Child.

This morning about 2 o'clock Detectives Hewitt and Walton and Patrolman Terry arrested Arthur E. Cole, a young man well known in Atlanta, who resides in Inman

The cause of Cole's arrest was a dead child that was upstairs in the detective's office and put away in a box. There will be a coroner's investigation ater this morning and the arresting offiers say that some very sensational derelopments will follow. Yesterday afternoon a negro went to the police station and exhibited a small box he stated had been given him by Cole, with instructions to throw it away. When the box was opened it was found to contain a dead baby boy, which the de tectives believe was murdered. The infant was wrapped in a lot of paper and on the sides of the box were spots of blood. The detectives say that Cole when ques tioned about the box and its ghastly contents said that he had found it on the tracks of the Georgia railroad between the city and Inman park. When he saw the box he kicked it and ascertained that it was not empty. He then picked it up, and bringing it to the city, gave it to the negro. When the matter was reported to Chief Connolly yesterday afternoon he placed the case in the hands of Captain Slaughter and he detailed Detectives Hewitt and Walton to work on it.

With Patrolman Terry the detectives lo cated Cole and found him asleep in a room at No. 771/2 Peachtree street. He was aroused and taken to the station house where he was first questioned and later locked up.

In speaking of the matter to The Constiution reporter Detective Hewitt said: "It is my opinion that the child was killed. Cole cannot give a satisfactory account of his connection with the affair and we have held him until the matter can be further looked into. The coroner will hold an inquest over the body this morning and we expect to get at the bottom of what we believe to be a case of infanticide. Captain Thompson also questioned Cole and states that the young man does not give a plausible explanation. Cole was accompanied to the ouse by some of his friends. Cole states he found it and that he know nothing further about it.

her to be sure. Yours, TOMMIE SHAW. This letter was brought to the hands of counsel for the prosecution in a very peculiar way, the witness Smith claiming to have lost it in a room in the courthouse, almost absolutely bare of furniture and telling counsel of the fact of the loss and the place when lost. The defense objected to the introduction of the letter but the objection was overruled by the court and the letter sent in. Witnesses Beauprie and Potter followed. Mr. Beauprie was until recently a leading citizen of Atlanta. Their evidence was a corroboration of the evidence preceding as to the condition of the trestle, witnesses testifying it was in good repair. Isham Smith next testified to an alleged hext witness sworn. This witness, who has been active in prosecution, hoots stime idea of his working solely for the reward, though acknowledging having received a portion of the amount paid for the conviction of Criswell. Defense Has a Theory. While seeking to examine this witness, apparently in irrelevant matter, counsel for the defense stated that the theory of defense was that Jim Smith and others had entered into a conspiracy to convict defendant for a purpose. Arwood, a road supervisor, testified that Shaw was at the moved, but at the same time stating that the defendant said that Criswell had told him where the tools were found. Dame and Ray followed this witness and corroborated his evidence upon the visit thrown and showing how the rail was reand remarks of Shaw. Beecher, a negro, was the next witness. He testified that he saw Criswell and Shaw going toward the trestle the evening of the wreck. The sun, he said, was about an hour high.

A very romantic feature of the life of defendant prior to his arrest came up at this point. Miss Johnson, whom it claimed Shaw adored, appeared as a witness against him, testifying that the defendant addressed her, but she refused him though at the time she believed him a single man. While this witness was teatifying Shaw at times gazed steadily at her: at others made copious entries in his ever present note book. Mrs. Tharp was called. She corroborated the testimony of Miss Johnson. The theory of the state on this point is that the defendant desired the death of his wife, so that he would be at liberty to marry Miss Johnson.

Prosecution Closes. The state rested with this evidence. It was 4:20 o'clock p. m., without the introduction as a witness of Warren E. Cris-J. M. Andrews was introduced by defense to impeach Brady Smith. Witness testified that Smith told him of the letter given to him-Smith-by Shaw to be delivered to witness, but said he was afraid he had lost it and Colonel Shannon had found it. Frank Phillips testified that the pilling near the north end of the trestle and on the east side was rotten and that in his opinion was caused thereby. With this evidence and some other immaterial testimony the court adjourned for the day. Shaw seems much worn but notes with a great deal of interest the testimony of witnesses. When the state closed and the evidence for his defense began, he laughed hilariously, but nervously—the laugh of a man wrought up to the extreme point of nervousness.

NO ELECTION IN KENTUCKY. Three Ballots Were Cast, but Hunter Failed To Win.

Frankfort, Ky., April 14.-The journal reading was as usual dispensed with. On the preliminary roll the Blackburn democrats refused to answer present, but the goldites did so. Then came the ballot-it vote stood: Hunter 61; Blackburn 41; Martin 12; Boyle 6; Stone 1. Necessary to a choice 62. There was no motion to adjourn and the thirty-seventh ballot began, Again there was no change, and the bal-lot was a copy of the thirty-sixth.

At the beginning of the thirty-eighth bal-lot it was observed that the vote, Hunter 61, opposition 63, left the latter exactly strong enough to win.

THE DEMOCRATS CARRY NEW JERSEY

Many Municipal Elections Result in Republican Defeat.

BOLTING DEMOCRATS COME IN

Regular Party Organization Is Now in Good Shape.

M'DERMOTT IS SIDETRACKED

He Is the Gold Standard Democrat Who Made Himself So Conspicuous at Chicago Convention.

Trenton, N. J., April 14.-(Special.)-The democrats have carried New Jersey-the real democrats. The issue of the many local elections held today was not the free coinage of silver, but at the same time, the victory gives a black eye to the Allen McDermott democracy, which made itself so conspicuous a feature at the Chicago convention. The state organization is nov practically in control of the regular party leaders who supported Bryan in the late campaign, and nearly all of those who forscok the party at that time are now returning one by one to the fold. It be-gins to look as though New Jersey would go back squarely and openly into the dem-

Nearly all the elections which were held today were purely municipal, and the most that can be said of them was that in many instances republican mayors were turned out and democratic mayors were put in.

Returns from the municipal elections today give the following results:

Jersey City—Edward Hoos, democrat, elected mayor by 3,246 majority; board of sldermen, 9 democrats and 3 republicans; the new street and water board, 4 democrats, 1 republican.

Hoboken—Lawrence Fagan, democrat, reelected mayor; democrats control common

CUTHBERT'S NEW SOLDIER BOYS New Company Has Already Had Considerable Training.

Cuthbert, Ga., April 14.-(Special.)-Cuthbert, Ga., April 14.—(Special.)—A local military company was organized in this city last night. Quite a good number have gone into the organisation. It is composed of young men of the city, both officers and men having received more of less military training at the military college in this city. The company starts off with bright prospects and when admitted as part of the state militia will be one of the crack companies. Mr. R. D. Crozier, the captain-elect, is ex-representative from this county, a prominent veteran and for many years secretary of Randolph Coun-ty Veterans' Association. First lieutenant, Professor E. H. Clark, is commandant of cadets in Bethel college, this city, while second and third lieutenants, T. J. Dunn and L. M. Moye, were captains of companies when they were pupils of the branch Agricultural and Military college, this city. The other officers have held official positions during their military training and are well qualified to assume the duties to which they have been elected. They are as follows;

First sergeant, McDonald Baldwin; second sergeant, Professor Alton Clark; third sergeant, Mercer Gay; fourth sergeant, George Spivey; fifth sergeant, T. T. Byars. corporal, Louis Dozier; second cor-Elmwood Martin; third corporal, J. B. Stanford; fourth corporal, Ed Cole-man; L. S. Newton, quartermaster. Dr. F. D. Patton was elected surgeon, John P. Redding, treasurer.

The privates, as well as officers, being already skilled in military tactics makes it an easy matter for company organization and early proficiency.

A duet with death. It is one of the grim realities of life that in a brilliant city drawing-room and modest country parlot, at city reception and country party, the pretty and cultured young woman, who charms every one with her mastery of music, is frequently almost within the clutch of death. The woman who through ignorance or carelessness neglects the delicate and important organs distinctly feminine, is trifling with death. At the best she is dooming herself to a life of ill-health and agony.

No woman need suffer from ill-health of a local nature if she will but resort to the right remedy. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures all weakness and disease of this description. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs that make wifehood and motherhood possible. It makes them strong and vigorous. It does away with the usual discomforts of the period of anticipation and makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It prepares young women for wifehood, and wives for motherhood. North Alabama Conference Methodists Discuss the Sunday School.

SEVENTH ANNUAL CONVENTION

The Meeting Is Attended by Delegater from All the Northern District of Alabama.

Birmingham, Ala., April 14.—(Special.)— The seventh annual convention of the Sun-day school workers of the North Alabama conference, Methodist Bpiscopal church, south, is attended by delegates from the the following districts: Birmingham, Decatur, Guntersville, Huntsville, Jasper, LaFayette, Talladega, Tuscaloosa and Gadsden.

Dr. A. B. Jones was chosen president of the convention, and Rev. L. F. Whittier, of Blockton, and Harry Wheeler, of Bessemer, as secretaries.

Dr. G. C. Kelley, pastor of the First Methodist church, Birmingham, delivered the address of welcome this morning, which was responded to by Rev. S. J. Parrish, of Wisonville. The following subjects were discussed by the convention.

"Should Secular Methods of Teaching Be Employed In the Sunday School?" "The Importance of the Sunday School to the Church," "How Should Visitors to the Sunday School Be Treated?" "How May Scholars Be Induced To Study the Lesson During the Week?" "How Can the Sunday School Extend Its Work in Our Bounds?

"Women as Workers in the Sabbath

Newman, Ga., April 14.-(Special.)-The athering clans show quite numerous additions since last night. A well attended prayer meeting was held at the Baptist church at 6:30 a. m., conducted by W. S. Witham. Quite a large rumber of short prayers and songs. At 9 o'clock the morning session came to thirty minutes.

Governor W. Y. Atkinson was introduced by Judge A. D. Freeman. He said he found it a pleasing duty to welcome the convention to the hearts and homes of Newnan—the best people and best city on earth. Come to Newnen to get a good start for heaven, for Newnan is the top of the earth. So feels every one of his own home, humble or exalted. "You are welcome to all we have. If ou don't see it ask for it. If you find it lying around loose just take it. He exhorted unfortunate young men to improve their present opportunity. He passed a high encomium upon the Sunday school enterprise. He drew an illustration for the value of Sunday schools by relating his late experience in the coal mines a mile under ground with the convicts gathering around him and begging for pardons:

"Keep Close to Jesus," was sung.
John M. Green, of Atlanta, said: "The convention is in the right place; this work is on the right line and as Newman is al. ways giving out good gifts—our noble gov-ernor, for instance—so she is giving to these delegates and visitors the best of all gifts-Christian fellowship and brother vention in Newnan is challenging the at-tention of the men of the world, for they are saying there is something mighty of its kind that brings these people from their many distant homes together here to spend days in plans and means not a business matter, but a Christian en terprise. The speaker was assured that the delegates would carry and leave a liction in all of Newnan's homes. In the name and behalf of all the churches. all the Sunday schools, all the homes of the city, he said: "You are welcome." Asa D. Candler spoke welcome from the Sunday schools of the whole state. Re-ferring to the large state and county map he deplored that so many counties have no county organization in Sunday schools He found a great work yet to do if the Sunday schools of Georgia are made as efficient as can be, and if schools may be organgreat light.

It is doing much to break down the dividing walls of different denominations and so Christians are much nearer together than before the war. Mr. B. F. Jacobs, of Chicago, originated this series.

He wanted to know not how many boys and girls of Georgia are enrolled in the Sunday schools, but how many are left out. How many lost sheep. He is after the lost sheep. He thinks that not more than 30 per cent of the young people are enrolled in Sunday schools. He wants the 70 per cent to be found and saved. Out of 5.000 professing Christians only one goes to preach to the heathen. The 4.399 who slay at home give about 40 cents cach a year to sustain the one who has gone to the pagan. He spells personal consecrations, opurse-and-alt, consecration! He wants teachers to have sole religion in the feet and hunt up pupils. Out of every hundred people of the United States twenty are church members, eighty are unbelieving; it develves upon the twenty to go after the eighty. Hawkinsville, Ga., April 14.-(Special.)-J. S. Myers last Sunday and brought here Monday for treatment, died this morning. The shooting occurred at Myers's place, about twelve miles from here, in this coun-ty. It is claimed by Myers that Brown acted in an insulting manner toward him and his wife, and on being ordered to leave the premises refused to do so and engaged in a hand-to-hand struggle with Myers. Seeing he was unable to cope with the negro in this manner, Myers went and got his shotgun and fired a load of No. 6 shot into the lower part of Brown's body. Before dying the negro told an altogether different, but not very plausible story.

An Interesting Session of the Senate. Which Indicates That the Tariff Will Have a Stormy Time.

Washington, April 14.-The first skirmish on the tariff question occurred in the sen-ate today. It was followed by a vote which served as a test of strength of the various elements of the senate. The vote occurred on a motion by Mr. Morrill, re publican, of Vermont, chairman of the committee on finance, to refer a resolution by Mr. Vest, one of the democratic members of the committee. This made the issue between representatives of the two senaorial factions Aside from this the resolution was in the nature of a criticism of Secretary Gage declaring illegal his recent order relative to goods imported after April 1st, when, according to the retroactive clause of the pending Dingley bill, the new tariff rates are to apply. Mr. Morrill's motion prevailed by a close vote of 24 to 23.

Prior to the vote a breezy discussion oc curred on several phases of the tariff. The subject came up first when Mr. Mantle subject came up first when Mr. Mantle presented a memorial from wool growers urging ample protection to their industry. He referred to in this connection the reports that Secretary North, of the Wool Manufacturers' Association, was acting as secretary of the finance committee.

Mr. Morrill denied this statement, saying that this gentleman had been summoned as an expert to give information on the that this gentleman had been summoned as an expert to give information on the wool question. Messrs. Hoar. Hawley, of Connecticut, and Gray, of Delaware, participated in the debate. Mr. Morrill succeeded in cutting off the debate by calling for the regular order. He expressed the hope that there would be no premature debate of a tariff bill now before the senate againg that he expected the bill would be reported at an early day. Debate soon came un again on the resolution of Mr. came up again on the resolution of Mr. Vest, declaring illegal the recent order of Secretary Gage.

Mr. Vest declared that the duty of the secretary of war was to execute the ex-isting law. And yet, the order clearly was the retroactive clause of the tariff bill pending in congress. The effect of the order nullified the existing law. He said that no intelligent lawyer would declare the retroactive clause of the Dingley bill to be a lawful exercise of authority by congress. It was an act of intimidation against importers.

Mr. Morrill again expressed regret that Mr. Morrill again expressed regret that the tariff bill was being discussed before it had been perfected and presented to the senate. Some of these provisions now un-der discussion might be changed before reaching the senate. Mr. Vest answered that he had not precipitated a tariff de-bate. It was the secretary of the treasury who precipitated the question by his ille-

Mr. Morrill moved to refer the resolu-tion to the finance committee. This pre-cipitated a tariff vote. Great interest was manifested in the vote, and the roll call was closely followed. The vote was as the democrats voted solidly against it. They had the assistance of all the silver republicans and populists present, except Mr. Mantle, of Montanna, who voted with the straight republicans, Mr. Cannon and Messrs. Butler and Harris, of Kansas, Heitfeldt, Pettigrew and Turner, populists were recorded against the motion. Messrs. Teller and Jones and Stewart, of Nevada. were absent. Senator Kyle and Senato Allen, populists, were also absent.

Morgan's Cuban Resolution Mr. Morgan then moved to proceed with the Cuban resolution It had been expected that Mr. Vest would speak on the resolution, but he stated that he would prefer a vote to be taken. Thereupon Mr. Morgan asked unanimous con sent that the vote be taken tomo sent that the vote be taken tomorrow.

Mr. Hoar said this would hardly be fair, after Mr. Morgan had spoken for four days, to ask for a vote which would allow only one day for speeches against the resolution, Mr. Morgan was willing to defer the vote until the next day, Friday, but Mr. Hoar said he could give no assent in the absence of the could give no assent in the absence of the senator from Main "Then I will move this resolution in op-position to the bankruptcy bill," said Mr.

nien I will move this resolution in eposition to the bankruptcy bill," said Mr. Morgan.

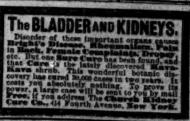

Efforts to fix a time for a vote were unavailing, and Mr. Morgan finally gave notice that he would call up the resolution daily until a vote was reached.

The Indian appropriation bill was then taken up. It afforded Mr. Gorman, of Maryland, an opportunity to speak of the disorganized condition of the senate. He criticized the course of those in charge of these measures, in pressing excessive appropriations when the senate committees were so disorganized that proper care for economy could not be exercised.

The committee amendment opening the Uncompanier indian reservation to public entry led to a long contest. A point of order was made against it by Mr. Jones, of Arkansas, and, pending the decision, the senate at 5 o'clock, went into executive session and soon after adjourned.

ATTORNEY HARRIS WILL TRY AGAIN

WORKING TO SAYE

Her Counsel Make a Motion To: Set Aside

the Sentence.

FOUR GROUNDS ARE SET FORTH

Judge Smith Refused To Grant the Motion Made.

This Time He Will Ask the Judge To Sign a Bill of Exceptions --- Appeal in Case of Refusal.

Macon, Ga., April 14.—(Special.)—Mr.
Marion Harris, of Macon, who has stood so nobly by Mrs. Elizabeth Nobles, as her attorney, went to Jeffersonville this morning to make a mution before Judge C. C.
Smith to set aside the sentence of death.
In the motion were four grounds, all based on technicalities, as follows:
The first ground is the most important one and sets up that the sentence was ille-

one and sets up that the sentence was ille-gal as the time set for the exception is less than the twenty days allowed by law. The petition alleges this is especially a viola-tion of the fourteenth amendment of the United States constitution

The second ground sets up that at the special ully term of the court when Mrs. Nobles was convicted, no recital that an inquiry was made by the judge or the court before judgment was pronounced whether she had anything to say why sentence should not be passed upon her, thus affording her an opportunity to allege any ground of arrest or to urge any legal obections that might exist against further

The third reason is that it does not ap pear affirmatively by any recital in the sentence that Elizabeth Nobles was o that time by, or was in court at that time by means of a writ of habeas corpus at the instance of the state's proper only cer, or by motion or rule nisi or other proper and official notice as required by law, and particularly by section 1074 of the penal code.

The fourth reason is that, as appears upon the face of the judgment, the same was rendered and imposed upon Mrs. No-bles in vacation and at chambers by the presiding judge of the Oconee circuit, which proceeding the warrant alleges was illegal and void, it is also alleged that the senillegal, contrary to the policy of the lav and in violation of the constitutional and inalienable rights of the said Elizabeth No bles, that any proceedings whatever be taken in said case against her by the judge of said superior court out of term time and in vacation and at chambers, it being an inalienable and constitutional right. privilege and immunity of the said Elizabeth Nobles, as a citizen of Georgia and as a citizen of the United States not to receive judgment in said case except in term time and in open court, it being essential to due process of law under the bill of rights to the Georgia constitution that judgment of death be imposed upon the said Elizabeth Nobles only in open court, by the superior court of Twiggs county, and not in vacation and at chambers by the judge of said court, and it being estimated. the judge of said court, and it being es-sential to the guarantee of the state and United States constitutions of a public rial in the courts that said Elizabeth No-bies should receive judgment of death only in open court, and an open court being necessary in order that she might urge by roper legal proceedings in a judicial form and tribunal any valid, legal reason that might exist against said judgment or its Judge Smith refused to grant the motion and Mr. Harris returned to Macon today from Jeffersonville. Tomorrow Attorney Marion Harris will go to Jeffersonville and present to Judge Smith for him to sign a bill of exceptions to his refusal to set aside the sentence of Harris will ask the supreme court on Friday to mandamus Jodge Smith and require him to sign the bill of exceptions

Mary Carter's Case. Mary Carter, who shot John Smith three times, was arraigned this morning before Recorder Freeman on the charge of shooting in the city and an assault with intento murder. She was taken before Justice McMillan and he bound her over to the superior court in the sum of $500. She has not yet been able to give bond and is still

THEN FIRED HOUSE | Harris Bramlett, the Alleged Notorious

Awful Crime of Martin Mowry, at Oakland, R. I.

HE MUTILATED HIS VICTIMS

Then Locked Their Bodies in Bo and Set Fire to the Building.

MURDERER FOUND IN A NEIGHBOR'S BARN

After Slaying the Reynolds Family, Mowry Tried To Take His Own Life, but Falled.

Pascoog, R. I., April 14.—News reached here today of a tragedy at Oakland, a small farming village a few miles from Pascoog. About 3 g'clock this morning the house oscupied by Edward Reynolds and family was burned and Reynolds, his wife and adopted daughter were killed.

It was several hours after the fire was discovered before those who were at the scene could begin their search. At daylight body was seen lying near the center of the ruins and as soon as possible this was emoved. Although it was burned so badly that it was beyond recognition, the appearance indicated that it was that of Servilla Reynolds, the twenty-year-old daughter of the family. A short time later Reynold's oody was also recovered, the identification being a general one, as the body had been frightfully burned.

When the neighbors who had been aroused by the fire went to the Reynolds louse this morning they found that the flames were confined to one part of the building. The place was securely fastened, the doors being bolted and locked and every window closed tightly, so that they were compelled to burst open the door to gain admission. The house had been saturated with kerosene and the flames spread rapidly. The rescuers attempted to search that part of the house where the family slept, but were driven back and only had time to take Mrs. Reynolds's body out before the section of the house was in a blaze. Her head had been crushed in and the upper part of the body horribly mutilated.

Martin Mowry, who worked for Reynolds slept in another part of the house and the villagers hurried to his room to alarm him. The room was empty and from the hasty examination that could be seen, it was evident that the bed had not been disturbed The bed clothing as well as the floor lead ing to the door had been saturated with some liquid, supposed to be kerosene. Mowry's trunk and a box belonging to him were open and his clothing was strewn about the floor.

Mowry was found in Leander Buffum's barn, some distance from the scene of the fire, chattering and laughing like a maniac Buffum seized the man and gave him up to one of the posse searching for him. Mowry is a bachelor about sixty-five years of age. From the position of the bodies, it is be lieved that Reynolds was called to his daughter's room by some unusual sound and that when he reached the side of her bed he received his death-blow. At that time Miss eynolds was probably killed.

The murderer, it is supposed, then wen to Mrs. Reynolds's room and after stabbing her twice in the face, battered her head in with some blunt weapon.

When Mowry left the house he went to the woods, where he shot himself in the head. The bullet only stunned him, however, and he did not repeat the attempt. He then went to Buffum's farm. The revolver with two chambers empty was found in his possession and an empty oil can was found owry's apartm

Mowry was willing to talk after his arrest, but from his appearance and manner of expression it seemed clear that he was

Reynolds and his wife were each about fifty years old. Servilla was their adopted daughter, the child of Mrs. Reynolds's deceased brother.

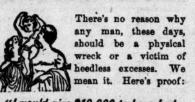

Reynolds had little money and hence it is thought that robbery could not have been the object of the crime.

GOVERNOR ALONE CAN SAVE HIM Unless Executive Clemency Is Shown

White Will Be Hanged. White Will Be Hanged.

Columbus, Ga., April 14.—(Special.)—The motion for a rehearing of the Henry White case having been refused by the supreme court, there seems to be but one thing between the young man and the gallows. This is the executive clemency of Governor Atkinson. It is hardly thought that the case will be carried to the United States supreme court, as first supposed. White is to be resentenced by Judge Butt next Saturday. He received the news of the action of the supreme court with composure and even indifference.

Moonshiner, Is Captured.

HELPED TO MURDER WORLEY

Escaped Punishment by Turning Gov ernment Evidence---Will Be Brought Here Today.

Harris Bramlett, the most noted moonshiner who ever made the blockade booze and defled the officers of the law, has bee captured and will be brought to Atlanta today for imprisonment in the Fulton cou United States Marshal Dunlap received a telegram yesterday morning from Deputy Marshal Bates, saying that he had captured Barmlett and had him in jail at Dalton. Bramlett was tried day before yesterday and bound over for illicit distilling. No man ever charged with moonshining is better known than Bramlett, who has been identified with some of the bloodlest tragedless ever engiced on the red. Turged. tragedies ever enacted on the red, rugged hills of north Georgia. He has given the revenue men more trouble than a dozen other men put together and has made, per-haps, as much whisky as any moonshiner Bramlett was said to be the leader of the famous band of white caps that at one time terrorized Murray and Whitfield counties with their wild deeds of desperate daring, and the same gang that sent a volley of leaden balls into the body of ill-fated Henry

Worley, as he was working in his forn field two years ago. The murder of Worley is well remembered because if its ghastly details. Worley was killed for being an informer on certain moonshiners. The white caps had banded together and had sworn death to any man who informed on any of their number for making whisky, which was an avocation followed by the majority of the gang. The gang learned that Henry Worley had told the revenue men of certain of their number who were running illicit stills. They at once voted to kill the informer and plans' were at once formulated to murder him. On a certain night in 1895 the white cappers went to Worley's house and dragged him away, despite the protestations of his family. The unfortunate mountaineer was carried far away into a wild, dense woods carried far away into a wind, dense woods, where he was hanged to a tree. The crowd, as soon as they saw their victim swung up safely, left, thinking that he was dead. But Worley wasn't dead by a long jump, and shortly after his would-be murderers departed he recovered consciousness and by an almost superhuman effort succeeded in natying the rone from around his neck and untying the rope from around his neck and dropping to the ground. Worley went out plowing in his corn field at an early hour. He had been plowing but a short time before a number of men came up from behind a clump of trees at one end of the field, and then a loud report, as if a dozen guns had been fired at once. Worley fell to the ground, his body riddled by the rifle balls and buckshot. He was dead before he struck the ground.

The clew to the murderers of Worley was slim, but it was but a few days before ten of his neighbors were arrested for the crime, among them being some of the most prominent men of Murray county. Harris Bramlett was one of the prisoners. Harris Bramlett turned state's evidence and his companions are now serving sentences of ten years each, and the case against him Officer Bates was expected here with his prisoner last night, but did not come. He will probably reach the city this morning and carry the notorious moonshiner to jail. WILL BE COOLER TODAY.

The Big Storm Has Passed Off .-- The

Rain Only an Incident. During the past twenty-four hours there have been some very rapid atmospheric changes. The storm which was over the lake region Tuesday night has disappeared to the northeast. The storm which was forming in the west gulf region moved northeast to the Atlantc coast states, forming a trough from New York to the east gulf coast. A ridge of high pressure has formed from the lake region southwest to southeast to the upper Missouri valley. The different combinations have an unfavorable effect on the immediate weather in the interior of the Atlantic coast states and portions of the Ohio valley. It is thought that the rain which resulted therefrom late last night will not be of the protracted kind. Late last night the ba-rometer started to rise rapidly and the wind shifted to the northwest, showing that this section was getting out of the storm's grasp quite rapidly.

To the west of the Mississippi the weather was generally clear from Texas north-ward to Nebraska and Iowa, and also from Illinois northward as far as covered by reports. There was some rain reported from the extreme northwest, also from sections along the Mississippi river and central guil coast, and from Alabama, eastern Tennessee and Ohio. The weather was cooler from eastern Texas northeastward to Lake Erie, and today it will be cooler in this vicinity. It was warmer along the Atlantic coas from Florida to New York, as it was als in the states from the upper Mississippi valley westward to the Rocky mountain slope.

Teachers.

Master Finds That Vandiver, Clements and Forster Are the Sureties.

Rome, Ga., April 14.-(Special.)-Special Master Max Meyerhardt filed his report his afternoon in the famous case of the ex-school commissioner of Floyd county, William Bridges. Mr. Meyerhardt has been at work on the report in this case twentyseven days and it is very long and exhaustive. The report shows that the sum of $39,069.71 came into the hands of School Con.missioner Pridges from the 1st of Jan uary, 1894, until the time he was suspended He finds that $34,968.22 was legally paid out by Bridges. According to this a deficit of $4,101.49 would exist. Bridges claims that 11,779 of the amount was overpaid teachers. The board of education admitted that $846.16 was really overpaid teachers. The auditor finds that $339.63 has been collected back from teachers by the present commissioner, Mr. Gwaltney, and gives Mr. Bridges credit to that amount, but refuses to credit him with the balance of over payments not collected back. Bridges claims that there are many other charges he has paid that cannot be legally proved, owing to the absence of witnesses and other reasons. The auditor finds that out of the deficit of $4,101.49 there is a balance due the city of Rome for the year 1894 and 1895 of $1.727.55. He holds that under the pleading of the board of education this amount cannot be recovered in the present action, as the amount is due the city of Rome and not the board of education of Floyd county. The auditor holds that under this action the board of education of Floyd county should recover from Bridges the sum o $2.373.94, which is the full amount of his shortage, less the $1,727.55 due the city of

The auditor further finds that G. H. Braden and E. P. Price are not liable as sureties on the bond of Bridges, because the same was not signed by them, nor authorzed to be signed in a legal manner. The attorneys for the plaintiffs conceded that G. H. Braden is not liable. The auditor finds that John M. Vandiver, C. T. Clements and W. G. Forster, deceased, are liable as sureties on Bridges's bond. The committee appointed by the board of education to investigate Bridges's books and accounts found a shortage of $5,475.15. The amount found by he auditor to be due is $1,373.66 less than the amount found by the commission. Part of this is accounted for by the fact already stated, that $339.63 has been collected back from overpaid teachers. A great deal of interest is being taken in this celebrated case and it is not at all like ly that the matter will end here, though the matter cannot be taken up until the July term of court. Bridges has an exceptionally strong array of counsel and a hard and bitter contest is looked for before the end is reached.

MEDICAL EXPERTS

Dr. Hathaway & Co.'s Thorough Knowledge of Diseases Peculiar to Men and Women.

Their Practical Experience in the Great Hospitals of the World Enables Them To Diagnose and Treat All Chronic Diseases with Greater Success Than Those Who Profess To but Do Not Possess the Above Qualifications.

The above named physicians need no introduction to the readers of this paper as their advertisements have appeared in the columns of leading papers for the past ten years. That they are masters of their profession must be admitted. Having had years of experience and training in the greatest hospitals of America and Europe, besides being graduates of medical colleges of unquestioned authority, in their extended and successful treatment of all chronic diseases they stand at the head of the medical profession. Dr. Hathaway & Co. have probably treated a greater number of patients during their residence in the northwest than were ever treated by any other physicians or firm of physicians. Their success has been phenomenal and well merited.

Despite the weather there were fully 6,000 people present, many of whom were whites, who occupied seats to the right of the rostrum specially reserved for them. Some of the best white folks in the city were there and seemed to take a deep interest in the exercises.

In the exercises.

The singing was even better than on the two previous nights. There was no organ, no song books and no frantic calesthenic exercises to keep time, but the harmony was perfect and such music has never been heard in that tabernacle before. Those ne-heard in that tabernacle before. Those ne-groes know how to sing, and entering fully into the spirit of the occasion as they do, their melody is simply divine.

Dr. Walker, the "Black Spurgeon," preached another powerful sermon. He took his text from the twenty-ninth Psalm, seventh verse: "And now Lord, what walt I for?" The discourse was probably the most impressive delivered so far and had wonderful effect on the vast audience.

Reversed the Order. The preacher adopted a novel plan last sight by inviting penitents to the mourners' bench before the sermon. He pleaded with all those who were interested in their souls' salvation to take the front seats. During the discourse there were numer-ous hearty "amens" and "hallelujahs" from all over the audience.

There was one instance of genuine shout ing. One negro woman, wrought up to the proper pitch, was unable to restrain her enthusiasm. There will be more, however, as the negroes wax warmer, which they are wilderness and the station house will be

The meetings will continue so long as the interest keeps up and the finance committee can pay expenses, which they are having a hard time to do just now. #### SHOUTS IN MEETING CASE IS NON SUITED

Out of Court.

Judge Lumpkin Yesterday Appointed Peter F. Clarke Receiver of the Mallory-Halcombe Plow Co.

tyre against the Empire Printing and Box Company was non-suited yesterday in the first division of the city court before Judge to the hearing of testimony and argument in the case and several very interesting points of law were raised while the dis-cussion on the motion for non-suit was pending.

Miss Pearl stated that she told the foreman when sale was ordered to work at the machine that she was unskilled in its management and was not acquainted with the manner in which it worked. She testified that she was bold to go to work, as a guard had but recently been placed on the machine which rendered it perfectly safe. She had not been at work very long on her boxes which she was pasting together before her two fingers on the left hand were caught under the press and mashed and mangled.

caught under the press and mashed and mangled.

Suit was filed against the company by Colonel R. J. Jordan, on the grounds that the girl was not familiar with the manner in which the machine worked and that the company was liable because she was placed at the machine under her protest.

The Empire Printing and Box Company was represented by Dorsey, Brewster & Howell, and Colonel Brewster asked that the court non-suit the case, as the suit was based entirely upon the grounds that she was not responsible for the accident, as she was not familiar with the machine. Colonel Brewster took the position that a girl fourteen years of age was able to understand the machine by which she was able to earn her wages.

The jury was sent out and the motion to non-suit was argued at length, Colonel Jordan opposing the motion on the grounds that the machine was defective in that it did not thoroughly perform its task and rendered it necessary for the girl to place her hand in a dangerous position in order to pull the paper slips through the feeding press of the machine.

Judge Reid allowed the non-suit, after Colonel Jordan had amended his original petition. Colonel Jordan then gave notice that he would carry the case to the supreme court on a bill of exceptions.

Lumpkin Names a Receiver.

The Mallory-Holcombe Plow Company is in the hands of a receiver and a report of the condition of the affairs of the company is to be made in open court before Judge Lumpkin.

Yesterday morning before the superlor court convened, Judge Lumpkin handed down a decision in the case of S. J. Purtell against A. R. Mallory et al., deedling that a receiver should be appointed to manage the affairs of the plow company.

The defendants in the case, A. R. Mallory and B. T. Boyd, are enjoined from interfering with the assets of the company in any manner and have been restrained from selling or disposing of any implements or plows which were manufactured under any letters of patent to A. R. Mallory.

When the application for receiver and injunction was presented Judge Lumpkin by Attoriey Golightly, the judge named Mr. Peter F. Clarke receiver and gave to him all of the rights and authority of an officer of the superior court in the management of the company's business

RED AND BLACK TO MEET RED AND BLUE

Georgia and Pennsylvania Cross Bats This Afternoon.

GAME CALLED AT 3 O'CLOCK

Both Teams in Fine Form and Promise Good Ball.

THE GEORGIA BOYS ARRIVED YESTERDAY

Practiced Hard All Afternoon---Pennsylvania Arrives This Morning Flushed with Victory.

Then comes Pennsylvania with: Hoo-rah, Hoo-rah! Penn-syl-va-ni-a!

Amid the veritable pandemonium of these yells, and a flutter of the red and black of Georgia mingled with the red and blue of Pennsylvania, the two crack college baseball teams of the north and south will try their mettle at Brisbine park this

The game will be called promptly at 3 o'clock and it is estimated that fully 5,000 people will be on hand to hear the umpire call "Play hall"

Interest in the game has been on the increase since the first announcement of the match, until now the lovers of a good game of ball and the innumerable supporters of the two colleges have wrought themselves up to the fever heat over the result.

The Pennsylvania team has a large number of rooters in Atlanta, who are prepared to give the players from the Keystone State a great send-off when they appear on

Of course the Georgia boys will be supported by three-fourths of the crowd who will witness the game. Atlanta is filled with graduates of the famous Georgia institution, and these will all be out to cheer their alma mater's colors on to victory.

Fair Women Will Be Present. The game today will be in the nature of a society event and fair women will play a large part in the make-up of the crowd of spectators. Atlanta girls are fond of the Georgia Joys and will not let them lack for encouragement from their hands.

The sponsors for the Georgia team at today's battle for supremacy on the diamond have been selected. They are Miss Laura Anderson, of Macon, and Miss Louise Du-Rose, of Athens. These are two remarkably pretty girls, whose presence in the grand stand will no doubt spur the boys they support on to heroic deeds. The sponsors will be escorted throughout the game by Messrs. Walter Cothran and Frank Kells Boland, of Atlanta

Sponsors for the Pennsylvania team have not been selected as yet, but this important detail of the day's proceedings will be attended to early this morning.

The Georgia team arrived in the city at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon over the Seaboard Air-Line. The team was in charge of Captain George Price, a well-known Atlanta boy, who, by the way, is doing some remarkable work on the diamond this year He covers center field in a manner that would make the very best professional players green with envy.

players and the bright little mascot, Morton Hodgson. The team is composed of joy, Moore, Price, Matthews, Johns, Dougherty, Sparks, Weddington, Richardson and McBride.

Upon leaving the vestibule the men at once repaired to the Aragon hotel, where a quick change of wearing apparel was made, the players appearing a few moments later togged in their working uniforms. drive was made to Brisbine park, where Captain Price put his men through a stiff practice. The work of the team was magnificent. The players covered their re spective positions in a bang-up style that howed a thorough knowledge of the game they will today be called upon to play.

When the practice work was finished Manager I. J. Hofmayer was all smiles He expresses himself as perfectly satis fled with the work of his team and is surthey will give a strict account of them. selves in the game against the big college team from Philadelphia.

The Georgia men are fully aware of the fact that they have struck a foeman worthy of their steel and that today's game will be a hard one to win. Nevertheles Captain Price says he is sure that his team will finally win out.

norning over the Southern railway. The men travel in a private car and will remain aboard their train during the stay in Atlanta. The Pennsylvania team has been loing some splendid work this season and are in prime condition. They come direct to Atlanta from Virginia and North Carolina after having defeated the crack teams from the two universities of those states. The Georgia Line Up.

Opinion as to the winner of today's battle seems to be pretty evenly divided. This is the first time one of the big northern colleges has sent a team in this section of the country for many years, and conse quently Atlanta people do not know exactly how to judge their work. It is generally eded that Georgia has an even chance

Along with the party went two new recruits. One is the famous Jay Eaton, of New Jersey, who is now the acknowledged crack rider of the lot. The other recruit is Russell Walthour, of Atlanta. The event of next week in blcycle circles will be the opening of the bicycle path of the Piedmont Bicycle Club, which takes place next Tuesday, April 20th. The path to be opened is the first one round Atlanta. It is as smooth as a floor

The grade is extremely light and a wheel in good condition will sail over it without any exertion on the part of the rider. The Piedmont Cycle Club, which is the proud owner of the path, was established last fall and has had an unusually successful career. It is composed of the most prominent riders in the city. For several months workmen have been engaged in preparing the bed of the path. Since its completion hundreds of persons have ridden over it and all have pronounced it superb.

It is far superior to the asphalt of Peachtree street and is even better than the chert of the West End boulevard. There are no street car tracks in the way and no wagons to dodge. Only bicycles are allowed on the path and those who ride there are expected to observe the rules of the road.

The path winds through the woods and is delightfully shady and picturesque.

The members of the Piedmont Cycle Club will be expected to be present at the opening and bring their friends with them. The path will be opened at 4 o'clock in the afternoon if the day is fair.

When the club was first organized only a few persons took shares in it. Interest was soon awakened, however, and now there are only a few shares left. It is expected that shares in the path will be at a premium before the season is very advanced. At present the path is three miles in length. The club has the right of way through a great deal more property and the path will be gradually lengthened until it is twenty or thirty miles long. CAPT. GRANT'S NEW BUILDING. He Has Not Yet Decided To Erect One on Walton Street. Captain W. D. Grant has not decided to erect a magnificent office building on the lot bounded by Walton, Broad and Forsyth streets.

It was stated that he had under consideration plans for the erection of a build ing, the statement being made on the strength of the fact that there has been a great deal of talk about the matter by the tenants of Captam Grant who are now occupying the buildings on the lot in question. The tenants have been sotified that their leases on the bouses wil, not be renewed, and it is generally stated, that Captain Grant intends to erect a splendid office building on the site.

In speaking of the matter yesterday

Captain Grant said:
"I do not contemplate erecting a $1,000,000 building anywhere. I have not decided to erect any kind of a building on this lot."

SHE WANTS PEACE.

WIFE HANDS HUSBAND NO. 2 IN-TO POLICE COURT.

Thomason Says She Promised To Make Him a Farmer---Husband and Wife Tell Different Stories.

" I love the very ground you walk on." exclaimed G. U. Thomason, as he faced his accusing wife in the police court yesterday afternoon.

"Well. vou have shown it in a mighty poor wev." replied Mrs. Thomason, "and all I want now is peace, and I can't get it by living with you."

Thomason married the widow Mollie Brown about four years ago, and she had some property, which had been left to her by her first husband. She also had three children, one of whom is married. As Mrs. Thomason tells it, her second husband did not treat her with the proper kindness and consideration and she left him. Tuesday night he went to the house where she is living and created quite a disturbance by trying to get into her room. She sent for a police officer and had him arrested.

"I do not wish to see him punished, judge," said Mrs. Thomason, "and I will be satisfied if you let him off this time if he promises to never bother me and my children again."

Thomason had a different tale to unfold.

He said when he married the widow Brown she promised to rent her houses and get him a farm, where he could at last real-ize the ambition of his life—a country home. He expended $500 on the property for taxes and for supporting her children, so he says. He was finally hounded down by his wife's ron-in-law, who lived in one of her houses. He went further and insinu-ated that his wife had left him on account of another man. Then Mrs. Thomason got mad and she gave her husband a piece of ber mind then and there, court or no court. The warm discussion was interrupted by the recorder who called up some outside witnesses.

A smart young girl, who lives in the same house with Mrs. Thomason, stated that Thomason had done some loud swearing and had something in his hand which looked like a pistol. All this was vehen ly denied by Thomason, who called upon all kinds of judgments to overtake him if there were not a lot of lies being told upon him. Recorder Calhoun fined Thomason $3 on account of the plea made by his wife, but stated that if he was brought up again on the same sort of a charge a very heavy fine would be imposed.

It seems that during a heat Chapman be-came unduly excited and ran down in front of Newhouse before he was a full length in front, as prescribed in the rules

After several heats had been run, it was apparent that something out of the ordinary was taking place in the dressing room. Several "cops" rushed through the gateway and entered the room of disturbance.

When the final heat of the night was being run, Chapman took a fearful tumble just as he reached the tape at the finish. It was immediately rumored that some of Newhouse's friends had taken this course to get even with Chapman and fouled him. This, it is said, was not the case. About twenty feet before the finish line was reached. Chapman's front wheel "kissed." or rubbed against, the rear wheel of one of the leaders. The effect was felt at once, but on account of the momentum of the riders the fall did not occur until the line was reached. It is a significant fact, however, that Chapman did not race the second night.

The people want to know what party can legislate to their best advantage, and, finding that, they are ready to reward that party with their confidence." In the course of the same speech Mr. Bailey said to the republicans that the country had given them the power to make laws-a power they had improved to the extent of attempting to restore prosperity by increasing taxes; and he warned them that if they failed they might as well not make a nomination in the next presidential election. Concluding, Mr. Bailey said he was so confident of the failure of the republican remedy that he desired to raise no other issue. Said he: "Let the country see whether it is tariff revision or financial reform which shall work out our redemption."

In his speech at the Jefferson anniversary dinner of the national association of democratic clubs Mr. Bryan declared that the position taken by the democratic party in 1895 will not be surrendered. At the same time he declared that if the Dingley bill brings general and permanent prosperity the democratic party will not be in a position to win a contest by opposing it. He added: "If, on the other hand, the Dingley bill proves a disappointment to those who advocate it, our position of 1896 will be strengthened and public attention will be riveted upon the fact that the cause of financial depression is to be found in our monetary system."

The hope of the people and of the party is bound up in the course of events that are now transpiring. There should be no democrat thoughtless enough to interpose to take public attention away from the plans and purposes of the republicans. By these plans they will hang themselves!

Not Reduced by the Overflow.

In spite of the devastation wrought by the overflow of the Mississippi river there seems to be no reason for apprehending any serious reduction in the size of this year's cotton crop.

As compared with the vast area of the cotton belt the devastated portion of the Mississippi valley is comparatively small: and, though the flood's destructive work is grievous in the extreme, it is not of such a character as to seriously affect the general result.

Indeed the experience of past years has been that early spring floods instead of cutting the cotton crops short has frequently made them larger. This is due to the fact that the floods bave enriched the bottom lands and in partial atonement for having swept away the first crops planted have made the soil all the more productive for second plantings. Although it is now somewhat late in the season it is possible for the Mississippi valley farmers to redeem much of what they have lost by planting a second crop of cotton in the rich deposits of sediment which the receding waters have left upon their farming lands. In view of these considerations it is not likely that this year's cotton crop will be reduced. On the contrary, if it exwill be no occasion for surprise. Such the silver question. Free trader as he in the public mind things have happened before and they may happen again.

At Brishine Park

The University of Georgia will cross bats with the University of Pennsylvania at Brisbine park this afternoon and the game will formally open the iner-collegiate baseball season.

Doubtless a large crowd will be atracted to the park this afternoon not only to witness the season's formal opening, but also to enjoy the rare spectacl of seeing the two universities pitted against each other on the diamond. Both teams are in good condition and the game will doubtless be one of the most exciting ever played in Atlanta.

These inter-collegiate games are productive of much good and should be encouraged. Especially should this enouragement extend to match games between northern and southern colleges, and if the game this afternoon produces this effect it will not be played in vain Georgia extends a hearty welcome to the Pennsylvania boys and assures them of a sympathetic and friendly interest whatever the result of today's game may

Opening Their Eyes.

As The Constitution surmised a few days ago, thoughtful republicans are not dying with admiration of the remarkable spectacle presented by the republicans in congress under the leadership of Reed. In those quarters where Reedism has not made its importance fell the republicans are beginning to betray some restlessness.

Mr. Reed, as is well known, has undertaken to rivet public attention on the senate by abolishing sessions of the house and refusing to appoint committees to prepare legislation. This action, as The Constitution predicted, has succeeded in "riveting" public attention, not on the senate, but on the republican party, which, after pledging the people to restore prosperity, is tinkering with a fariff bill at one end of the capitol and doing worse than nothing at the other

With business and prices still in state of collapse, the people are wondering what Mr. Reed and his republican marionettes mean by refusing to engage in legislation intended, if not calculated to bring relief. Mr. Reed has practically declared that there shall be no currency reform at this session, and in order to prevent some of the more ob-streperous of his followers from springing a proposition of that sort, he has decreed that no committees shall be apnted, and that the republican house hall remain in a state of adjournment his is not at all pleasing to ser

The Chicago Times-Herald, whose or has the closest relations with Mr. McKinley, enters a protest at this programme. The Times-Herald predicts that presently "that body of statesmen will be bombarded so effectively that they will stop their adjournments of three days at a time and do something for their constituents." To this The Times-Herald adds: The people are looking for a currency commission to be appointed by the presi-dent, and unless that commission is pro-vided for at the present special session dent, and unless that commission is pro-lede for at the present special session there will be such delays that the next con-tressional election will be here and find us inprepared with a formulated plan of re-orm. At least it could be put in such a state of forwardness as to make an issue for the following fall elections. But if everything is postponed until the December session nothing definite will be accomplished, and the reformers will be at the mercy of the free silver men and popu-lists in the congressional elections.

Now this is indeed significant-it is almost a cry of alarm. Do the republicans see the handwriting on the wall? Can they fail to perceive, what is perfectly plain to other people, that the whole course of events since last November-the continuation of hard times the growing scarcity of money among the people, each particular step taker by the republican party-have been in the nature of object lessons on a large scale and all completely in favor of the democratic party?

Hunting for Humor.

The New York Evening Post finds a good deal of humor in the Dingley billmore, perhaps, than the republicans are apt to find in it when once the manifold injustice, greed and selfishness of the measure are in active operation.

But this apart, we do not see why The Evening Post and newspapers of its kidney should object to the Dingley bill, or even humorously criticize it. The Evening Post especially worked as hard for just such a result as the Dinglev bill as any high protection organ in the land. Of course The Post didn't come right out and advocate a high tariff, but it supported the contention just the same. Its argument was, "If you want to maintain the national honor vote for McKinley;" but Editor Godkin knew just as well then as he knows now that the caly way in which the McKineyiter know how to support the "national honor' is by means of increased ariff schedules.

Republican "honor" is "national honor," and the only way for the republican machine to maintain its "honor' was to so arrange the tariff schedules as to enable the generous manufacturers and monopolists to get back the contributions they had made to the

Hanna corruption fund. Some of the bolters now claim that they supported McKinley because they deemed a high tariff a lesser evil than the free coinage of silver. This is better than saying, as some are now doing, that if they had known such a measure as the Dingley bill would be framed they would have voted for free coinage Editor Godkin, however, is not a bolter. He is a mugwump pure and simple-a genuine free trader. Remembering this, we also remember that his sole objection ceeds the size of last year's crop there to McKinley was his dubious record on was and doubtless is, he was perfectly willing to support the rankest protec tionist the world ever saw if only the "national honor" could be maintainedalbeit, we have never been able to dis cover what interest Editor Godkin had or has in "national honor." Why, then, should he rail at the Dingley bill or profess to find humor schemes and devisements intended to tax the people for the benefit of a very small class? He knew well enough how the republicans proposed to maintain the "honor of the nation" and he indorsed their plan by supporting McKinley and denouncing as "blatherskites" all who opposed the republicans and their plans for mainaining the "honor of the na-

We don't know how Editor Godkin will survive when he finds Ohio going democratic next fall, and sees the repub lican majority in congress annihilated in 1898. Perhaps he will find the result

SHOULD MRS. NOBLES HANG.

She Should.

From The Carrollton Free Press Great interest is now being taken in the action of the governor in disp of Mrs. Nobles, now under sentence of death on the 23d of April for the part she played in the killing of her husband

There is but one thing for the executive to do, and that is to let the law be carried out to the letter, when justice is meted out in such cases, and that Mrs. Nobles has been tried before Ar impartial judge and jury and found guilty of murder in the first degree, preme and planned by her and the negro Fambles, and as the penalty for such a crime is life for life, and with all due respects for the feminine gender, there is no reason why the wearing of a petticoat should interfere with the execution of the law in this or similar cases.

She is a criminal of the deepest dye, the blood of her husband who was so cunningly coyed to his rudely made grave, is still upon her hands, and there should be no mercy shown. A mean woman is a hell on earth and a crime committed by them should be dealt with as if by a man. Life is life, death is death, and the laws of our country should be executed on all alike or it is a myth.

She Shouldn't. From The Macon News.

If it is argued that the law is no re spectors of persons and that, 'therefore Mrs. Nobles should be put to death the same as if she were a man, can it be justly contended, too, that the law must not take into consideration the mental condition of the condemned? The law itself holds otherwise, and accords to all persons whose sanity is in doubt a fai and impartial hearing.

It is a notable fact that the most prejudiced person, after seeing and talking with Mrs. Nobles, becomes convinced that she is an imbecile. A few days ago, for instance. The Atlanta Constitution sent special representative to this city to see and talk with Mrs. Nobles. No one can charge that any effort was made to influence The Constitution's representative in the old woman's behalf, for few even knew of his presence in the city, and his newspaper instincts would have compelled him to write only what he saw. But his interview with Mrs. Nobles furnishes strong evidence of her weakness of mind and the bles is an imbecile.

The Constitution reporter gives a conversation with Mrs. Nobles, showing that she does not even know the length of her confinement, the year, the month or the day of the week. She cannot read, knows nothing of current eyents, nor of the form of government under which she lives, nor, until placed in the Bibb county jail, did she know any more about God. All in all, she is the most densely ignorant creature meginable, which, coupled with hereditary weakness of mind, renders her less responsible that any lunatic in Georgia. And this is the woman whom many would see put to death without an inquiry into her sanity. Such a hearing is all that her attorney and the good women who have interested themselves in her case have ever contended for, but this has been persistently refused.

Governor Atkinson needs out to investigate the condition of her mind to convince himself that the movement in behalf of Mrs. Nobles is not based on "sickly se.:timentality," but on reason, justice and humanity. He cannot see her in person without realizing that to put such a creature to death would be a greater crime than the one she committed.

It vas this bold opinion of Perkins which bore fruit in the swollen fetlock aforesaid. What implanted in Perkins the bike thirst will never be known. Perkins can't tell himself. He saw Jerry Simpson and his golf stockings and Joe Cannon and other birds of congressional prey fitting about the scene aboard of bikes and was caught up in the mad whirl. That's the best ex-

"The proposed Dingley bill, as far as it affects Canada, is, in many of its rates of duty, absolutely prohibitory, and appears to have been framed in total disregard of what Canada may think or do, by a comnittee apparently culpably ignorant of the nature and extent of the commerce between the two countries. If this committee had candidly investigated the subject, they could only have arrived at one conclusion: that it must be contrary to their own pro fessions of devotion to home industries to imperil the sale of twice as large an amount of American products in Canada, as they can, by any prohibitory tariff, exclude of Canadian products from the United States. This Country May Be Properly Represented at the Fair.

Washington, April 14.-The president today sent the following message to congress urging it to make suitable provision for adequate representation of the United State at the Paris exposition:

adequate representation of the United State at the Paris exposition:

"To the Senate and House of Representatives—I transmit herewith for the consideration of the respective houses of congress a report of the secretary of state representing the appropriateness of early action in order that the government of the United States may be enabled to accept the invitation of the French republic to participate in the universal exposition to be held in paris in 1900."

The president then urges upon the congress such timely provision for this great international enterprise as will fittingly respond to the widely testified wish and expectation of American inventors and producers that they may have adequate opportunity again, as in the past, to fortify the important positions they have won in the world's competitive fields of discovery and industry. The message concludes:
"It is proper that I should emphasize the need of early action, for if the present session pass without suitable provision being made, postponement of the matter for nearly a year longer could not but operate greatity to the disadvantage of the United States, in view of the elaborate preparations already making by other governments and of the danger that further delay may result in inadequate allotment of space to this country, as well as incomplete organization of the American exhibit.

MEN AND MATTERS.

This is a department presumably to masculine haps and mishaps, but the ascendancy of woman and the utter de-pendence of men upon the will and wishes of the alleged weaker sex make it neces-sary for something to be said concerning an accusation which has recently been made against the organizations among the women of Atlanta. women of Atlanta.

It has been cnarged that the multifarious feminine organizations in Atlanta are but the outgrowth of the yearning, the innate desire to gossip. It is said that the charity work which these various clubs have in view has been overshadowed by the discus-sion of fads and folbles, and that the real object of the women is not to do good, but to gossip good; that it is the tongues of the various members which have oeen busy instead of their fingers.

This report declares that these modern organizations are not significant of material development among women. On the other hand it is said that they indicate other hand it is said that they indicate that through the years the charter-box characteristic has increased and that these doings of the so-called new women are but another evidence of a desire that in the good days of our grandmothers showed itself in tea drinking and quilting parties. It is charged that these charity clubs are but schools for scandal and are centers from which radiate reports of many events that otherwise would remain scaled.

These and many other similar charges have been made concerning the work of the women in Atlanta since the riovement has been well under way.

has been well under way.

Let the charge be admitted that Mrs. Grundy is frequently in attendance upon these meetings. This may be natural, but the insinuation that these organizations are mere gossip bodies is basely untrue.

The fact is unquestionable that the women of Atlanta in proportion to the population have accomplished more through the work of organized charities than has been done in any other city in the United States.

But a cursory glance is sufficient to establish this. The Home of the Friendless, strictly under the management of we men; the Florence Crittenton Home, established through their efforts; the ladies' auxiliary to the Grady hospital, the night schools for girls, the sheltering arms, the sewing circles, the Young Matrons' Club, the Association of Old Fashion Women, the charitable department of the Woman's Club, to say nothing of the organized workers in mission fields and in various other lines, are all active proofs of what the Atlanta woman is not actuated by

The Atlanta woman is not actuated by the desire to come under the head of that new species of femininity which is boasting of its power to pre-empt every masculine prerogative, including the adornment of trousers, alias bloomers, and various other rights which naturally should be confined

There is a purpose more far-reaching than the inseam of a pair of trousers which has controlled the efforts of the Atlanta wodistinction, and while in due season she reaps the pleasures of the lighter side of life, beyond these trivialties is the firmly rooted desire to be of material and to society in the broader sense of the term. Speaking generally while the Atlanta woman attends to these outside duties she is strictly a woman of the home. This dis-

"And now come the defendants and demur to said petition and show that the sam is insufficient in law and does not set forth the cause of action, wherefore defendants pray that said petition be dismissed at aintiff's costs.

"And for special demurrer. defendants show that said suit purports to be brought as administrator of the estate of Hudson E Ragiand, while the suit is brought in the name of Lewis S. Morris, and is in reality in his own right and not as administrator. "Defendants further show that said suit is an effort to collect money paid in settle ment of an unconditional contract in writ ing. Defendant denies that after a party has paid up an unconditional contract in writing that they have under the law any right to sue to recover back the amount so paid out.

"Defendants further show that the effect of safd suit is that of defense to an unconditional contract in writing and that the same should be made under oath, but that the plaintiff's suit is not sworn to.

"Defendants' Attorneys." The Defendants Answer. After admitting paragraphs 1 to 6 and enswer is made by the defendants:

"For further answer defendants show that it is true that Henry A. Cassin was cashier of the Georgia Loan, Savings and Banking Company in December, 1895, and that he is still cashier of said company. That it is true that said Cassin and Purtell indorsed said insurance policy to the Georgia Loan, Savings and Banking Company and that the insurance company accepted the transfer of said policy. Defendants say that it is true that after the death of said Hudson Ragland the sald Cassin made out proofs of death and forwarded the same to the insurance company, and that he said insurance company paid the full value of said policy, towit, $5,000." Mr. Cassin's Statement. Mr. Cassin was seen last night by a representative of The Constitution in regard to the suit and he was asked if he desired to make an statement of the matter.

"The suit has been filed and is now pending in the courts," said Mr. Cassin, "and I prefer to say nothing for publication at present, but allow the matter to take its regular course in the courts."

TOM BLODGETT IS BACK AGAIN REPUBLICAN AVENGER HAS RE-TURNED FROM WASHINGTON

Says That He Has Fixed His Fences and That a Place Will Come To Him All Right.

Tom Blodgett has returned to Atlanta. After a long slege in aWshington, where he claims that he has fixed himself with the administration, the active representative of republicans is here actin. Blodgett has been on the track of Georgia office seekers since the inauguration.

He is known as Blodgett, the avenger, for he has treasured up resentment against all office seekers from this state who have office seekers from this state who have stood in his way and attempted to prevent their appointment.

He haunted Colonel Buck during the stay, of that potentate in Washington when he was first applicant for his Japanese job. He declared that Buck would not be appointed until he had told the prevident all he know about him. Where Buck would he knew about him. Where Buck would go Blodgett would follow. He dogged the footsteps of the prospective minister and upon one occasion made a trip from Washgion to Atlanta and back again in order When the appointment of Angler was pending Blodgett made charges against who had opposed him and made it warm in the republican colony. Blodgett claims that he has fixed his claim to the job in the revenue department and says that the place is coming his way.

STATE CONVENTION W. C. T. U.

Local Delegates Left for Sandersville Yesterday Morning. The regular annual state convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be held in Sandersville beginning today and continuing until Monday. An interesting programme has been pre-pared, and from present indications the gathering will be one of the most success-ful in the history of that organization in Georgia.

The Atlanta delegation consisting of Mrs.
J. Jefferson Thomas and daughter, Mrs.
E. C. Witter. Miss Missouri Stokes and Mrs. Stainback Wilson. left yesterday morning at 8 o'clock via Macon and Tennille. They will be royally entertained by the temperance women of Sandersville, and will return immediately after the convention is over.

Mrs. W. C. Sibley, of Augusta, who has been the president of the organization for seventeen years, will preside. Some of the most prominent women in the work from all over the country will be present, and much good will no doubt be accomplished.

Application for Court's Order Was | Board of Health Will Investigate Filed Yesterday.

Large Amount of Property.

HE OWNED VAST TRACTS OF LAND SANITARY COMMITTEE TO GIVE AID

Sale Will Be Conducted by Administrator Wilmer L. Moore by Authority of Court---Schedule of Property of Late Captain Jackson.

The estate of the late Captain Harry Jackson is to be sold.

Application for an order authorizing the sale was filed with Ordinary Hulsey yes terday. Judge Hulsey granted the order and the entire estate, consisting of both personal and real estate, will be offered for sale by Administrator Wilmer L. Moore.

The estate which was left, by Captain Jackson was very large and consisted of stocks, bonds, real estate, improved city property and a large interest in Hickory Nut mountain, in Habersham and Rabur

Among the items mentioned in the appli cation for order of sale is the Jackson hotel property, at the corner of Pryor and Ala bama streets. The hotel was erected seve ral months before Captain Jackson's death The building had been formerly occupied by Wellhouse & Bros., as a paper warehouse. The property is very valuable, be ing located in the center of the business portion of the wholesale district and within few feet of the union passenger depot. Captain Jackson owned two lots on Capi tol avenue and Capitol Square, one of th pieces of property being the Jackson home following items which are mentioned in the application for order to sell the estate by the administrator:

One first mortgage bond of the Elyton Land Company, which is valued at par, Thirteen first mortgage bonds of the At-Five income bonds of the Atlanta Colsolidated Street Railway Company.

One thousand shares of stock in the Atlanta Consolidated Street Railway Com-

Fifty shares of stock in the Gate City bank, 33 1-3 of which have been paid back One share of stock in the Piedmont Exposition Company.

Ten shares of stock in the Merchants and Mechanics' Banking and Loan Company.

One share of stock in the Atlanta and One hundred and five shares of stock in the Atlanta Home Insurance Company. One-half undivided interest in a lot of land in Habersham county, adjoining the Hick-ory Nut mountain property. This land is located near Tallulah Falls. One-fourth undivided interest in a tract of land in Rabun county, which added to the other interest above mentioned, is said to place one-half interest in the Hickory Nu mountain property in the title of Captain Jackson's estate.

EDGEWOOD FUND TRANSFERRED

The Water Department Will Get the $6,250 Set Aside for Several Years. The finance committee of the council has decided to transfer the $6.250 which has been set aside several years for the purpose o widening Edgewood avenue at Pryor street, giving the amount to the water department to be used in purchasing new pipe. This money has been annually appro-priated for the purpose so stated, but now that the project of widening the street seems to have been wholly abandoned, Mayor Collier and the members of the finance committee decided to use the money for another purpose, and it was consequently set aside for the water department. Several years ago the city decided to several years ago the city decided to widen Edgewood avenue, and a board of appraisers was appointed to assess the value of the corner of the Beck & Gregg building. The board proceeded in violation of the usual custom, and the matter was taken to the courts. A final decision was recently handed down by the supreme court unfavorable to the city, and the project was accordingly given up, at least for the present.

Committee Charges,

ESTATE IS VERY VALUABLE SPECIAL MEETING VESTERDAY

Set for 2:30 Today,

City Attorney Anderson Will Prosecu Veal Before the Board and Judge Van Epps Will Represent Him-Waldron Is To Be Fired.

The board of health will investigate the charges against Chief Sanitary Inspector omas E. Veal. The trial will begin at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon and it will be pushed to a conclusion.

This action was decided upon by the board at a meeting held at 1:30 o'clock yesterday. The sessions will be held in the council chamber and they will be public It is expected that the investigation will onsume several days. City Attorney Anderson has been invited by the board to appear and prosecute the case against Veal. The inspector will be on hand with his witnesses who testified before the special council committee last week. Judge Howard Van Epps will repre sent Mr. Veal in his defense. The board decided to invite the sanitary committee of the general council to sit with it in the investigation and participate in the proceedings. This committee consists of Judge R. T. Dorsey, chairman; and Dr. L. P. Stevens and Mr. George W. Howard. Judge Dorsey is out of the city and he will not attend the sessions of th Special Meeting Yesterday.

The special meeting of the board was called to order in the office of the sanitary department in the city hall yesterday by Dr. Alexander. Mayor Collier, Dr. Mc-Rae, secretary of the board, Dr. Hunter P. Cooper and Mr. J. A. Miller were present. Chief Inspector Veal occupied a chair in the room, but he had nothing to say during the meeting.

The matter was brought up by the reading of the inspector's communication to the board, asking for a trial on the charges filed by the council committee, which com-niunication appeared in yesterday's Con-stitution. The charges were not read. Mr. Miller arose and stated that without having had an opportunity to confer with other members of the board, he wanted to nove that the charges against Inspector Veal be investigated at once. He said the trial should be held as soon as possible. Dr. McRae offered an amendment tha the sanitary committee be asked to sit with the board and assist in trying the case. The amendment was accepted by Mr. Miller and the motion was then adopted.

On motion of Mayor Collier, it was then decided to begin the investigation at 2:30 that he had conferred with Judge Anderson and that the latter was willing to represent the city in the trial of the case.

Waldron To we Discharged. Mayor Collier called attention to the por tion of the special council committee's re-port relating to the work of Waldron, the superintendent at the dumping grounds, the committee recommending that Waldron be discharged from the service of the city. Mr. Collier stated that that part of the com-mittee's report had been adopted by the council and had been approved by the mayor. He asked if the board desired to take action on the matter at once.

After considerable discussion and consideration he several applications which have been filed for the place, the board de cided to postpone the matter until a later

Mr. Miller raised the point that it is impossible to secure a bookkeeper who can attend to horses, and equally as impossible to secure a hostler who can keep a good set of books. He suggested that the two qualifications are seldom found in the same person and intimated that it may be sary to employ two men to look after the affairs at the dumping ground and Queer Way of Getting Charges. Yesterday morning Dr. Alexander, president of the board, sent a letter to City Clerk Greene asking for a copy of the charges against Inspector Veal. This ac-Clerk Greene asking for a copy of the charges against Inspector Veal. This action was the subject of considerable comment, bringing up the point that the board of health has now asked for the charges which by action of the council were not referred to the board, and which were in the parliamentary stage known as "lying on the council table," from which they can only be taken by order and action of the council itself, say the parliamentary sticklers of that body. The suggestion is made that the action of the board of health at this time may be unofficial for the reason that it will make the investigation on a copy of the charges in the possession of the council and which have never been regularly referred to the board.

It was told in yesterday's Constitution how the council failed to refer the matter to the board of health by adopting a motion to lay the resolutions offered on the table. This action would ordinarily hold up the whole subject and leave it within the power of the council to again call it up and take such action as seemed advisable to it. It would be possible for the council to again call up the matter and refer it or make such disposition as the law and rules will permit.

Chief Veal says he is ready for the investigation to begin and that he will have his witnesses on hand at the proper time this afternoon.

They Will Be Invited. Very little as yet has been done in t way of securing competitors, but it is not doubted that not one man in a hundred who can ride a wheel at all will refuse t lend his aid to so deserving an enterprise especially if the invitation comes from the young ladies who are now most interested The names they are considering at presen nclude many well known gentlem if they ride bicycles at all, must do it after dark and on back streets, because the have never been seen among the fashionable scorchers whose parade along Peachtre street is reviewed on every pleasant after toon by Major Livingston Mims on the front porch of his handsome residence.

For instance, the list of lawyers who are to be invited includes Messrs. W. D. Ellis, P. H. Brewster, Howard Van Epps, Bur ton Smith and B. F. Abbott. It is to be pre umed because their names are on the lis that all of these gentlemen can ride an ride well, but they have thus far concealed that fact from their friends. Among the bankers who are expected to take part are Messrs. R. J. Lowry, C. E. Currier, E. H. Thornton, Tom Erwin, Charles Runnette Tom Meador and Frank Hawkins. All may be experts, but they have thus far kept it dark.

An Exciting Event. One of the most exciting contests of th evening is expected to be that of the insurance men, who are to be represented-unles they decline to participate-by Messrs. Clarence Knowles, R. F. Shedden, C. S. Northen, Clarence and Tom Essle-ston. All of these gentlemen hold policies in their own companies for amounts sufficlent to justify them to some extent in the risks they will run, and they have also the assurance that a number of eminent physi-cians and surgeons will be present. In fact, the eminent physicians and surgeons themselves will be asked to race. Those already on the list include Dr. W. S. Elkin, Dr. H. P. Cooper, Dr. Hugh Hagan, Dr. W. C. Jarnagin, Dr. Willis Westmoreland and Dr.

All this is bad enough and would doubtis to come. Among the railroaders who are marked for victims are Messrs. J. S. B. Thompson, T. J. Hunter, D. W. Appler, Charley Harman and Sam Webb. The newspaper profession will have such swift and graceful representatives as Messrs. E. C. Bruffey, Joe Johnson, Jr., Benjamin M. Blackburn, Orth Stein and C. C. Nichols.

The Two Star Races. The merchants whose names have been listed for special invitations include such well-known business men as J. M. High, B. F. Joel, Lee Douglas, Isham Daniel, M. Rich, J. G. Oglesby and Ed Dubose. Th hotel men's race, which is being looked for ward to with much agitation and on which ward to with much agitation and on which considerable sums have already been staked, will contain among its competitors Messrs. Joseph Thompson, Ed Callaway, Jim Hickey, George Scoville and Carl Weinmeister. The odds so far show Mr. Weinmeister to be a conspicuous favorite.

The grand finale of the evening will be the race between the winners of each of these separate heats, but preceding that event.

INSURANCE CASES HAVE BEENSETTLED

True Bills Against Dr. L. P. Herrington Nol Prossed Yesterday.

SAPP'S POLICY WAS CANCELED

Alleged Waynesboro Insurance Fraud Took a Sudden Turn.

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS ARE EXPECTED

Connecticut Indemnity Association Will Not Prosecute the Principals in the Affair.

An interesting climax was reached yes-terday in the alleged Waynesboro fraud. The true bills against Dr. L. P. Herring-ton and Agent Nathan Delaigle were noiprossed and the civil proceedings brought against the Connecticut Indemnity Asso-ciation were dismissed upon a settlement of the case and the cancellation of the policy which was issued upon the life of old man Sapp.
The Connecticut Indemnity Association has severed its connection with Dr. L. P.

Herrington, its medical examiner and the position held with the company by Agent
Delaigle has been left vacant by his withdrawal from the company's employ.

The story of the charges of fraud which were preferred against Dr. Herrington and Agent Delaigle was told exclusively n Tuesday's Constitution. Both the agen and Dr. Herrington were at that time un-der indictment of the grand jury and the case was set for yesterday in the criminal uperior court before Judge Callaway. Yesterday the bills of indictment were nolprossed and the matter was settled with-out a court trial. The case which had been instituted against the insurance company was removed to the federal court at Au-gusta, but this, too, has been settled, and the policy which was claimed to have been fraudulently issued was canceled and the nsurance company was relieved of all liability in the matter, the plaintiffs paying all costs of litigation.

Colonel T. B. Felder, counsel for the Connecticut Indemnity Association, received a telegram yesterday morning from Waynes-boro stating that the matter had been given this direction and that everything had been satisfactorily arranged

What the Company Charged. The allegations made by the Connecticut Indemnity Association were of a mos startling nature. The company that Dr. Herrington and Agent Delaigle, acting in collusion, had misrepresented the facts in the application made by Mr. Sapr for an insurance policy.

The charges were made before the grand fury and as a result of the investigation of that body both parties charged with fraud were indicted. In the meantime the policy which had been issued on the life of Mr. Sapp was refused payment by the company and a suit was instituted in the superior court of Burke county for the face value of the policy, $3,000. The company refused to make the payment, charging that the policy had been obtained through fraud and that the claim was unjust and unreasonable. Dr. Herrington, who signed the applica-tion as medical examiner for the insurance company, stated that he had been mis this statement was made, it was discovered, so it is claimed by the insurance rempany, that Dr. Herrington had but recently signed an application on behalf of Mr. Sapp for a pension, in which applicaon the true age of the applicant

When Mrs. Godbee was asked about her policy, she stated that she did not know that her life was insured, as she had never been approached by either the agent or by Dr. Herrington and had never made any payment upon account of premiums.

Woman and Society

THE PERSON OF TH

Georgia Women Gather In the Interest of Tennessee's Centennial

There was a notable gathering of the wo men composing the Georgia board for the Tennessee Centennial yesterday afternoon. The meeting was gratifyingly large and the spirit of enthusiasm which was manifest augurs bright things for the future of the work which these patriotic and energetic women have undertaken to do. Considerable work of vital importance to the work was done.

The Georgia commission of women con sists of those appointed from the state at large, those representing the congressional districts, and the Atlanta woman's board. At a recent meeting of the latter body the lady commissioners at large and congres sional representatives were made honorary members, so that in matters of importance the three seperate commissioners might act as one body. The meeting yesterday was a very representative one and the ladies were most enthusiastic about the progress of their exhibit at Tennessee.

Mrs. A. B. Steele, president of the At lanta board, presided, and at her request Miss Sergeant read the minutes of the two last meetings of the Atlanta board that the visiting ladies might be informed as to the progress of the Atlanta part of the state representation. The subject of greatest importance dis cussed was the date of Georgia day, which had been left to the ladies to decide, after everal conferences with Governor Atkinson, Colonel Nesbitt and Captain Oscar Brown. Captain Brown was present at the neeting and informed the ladies that or the days of May 25th and 28th the dates considered for the Georgia day, it would be impossible to assure a large representation of the state soldiers, as it was so near the time of their regular June encampment. He stated that he had com municated with the commanders through out the state and that with the exception of the Savannah Volunteers and the cavalry companies of Atlanta and Augusta, there were none who expressed themselves as being able to turn out on Georgia day if occurring on the 25th and 26th of May.

In reply to the question as to the earliest time in June when a large display of state military might be counted upon Captain Brown thought that the last week of June was about the only time that could be decided upon, as there seemed to be just prejudice against any later date or account of the heat of the weather.

Mrs. Loulie M. Gordon spoke in favor of the Georgia day being the latter part of the month of June, when it would be not only possible to secure a large number of the state military, but a larger number of college and school people, while the reunion of the confederate veterans in Nashville at the time would draw another contingen of Georgia people.

Mrs. Eugene Heard, of Elberton, spoke against the dates suggested for May on grounds that the people of the rural districts would be unable to send the same products as an exhibit and would be unable to go in large numbers to Tennessee at that time.

Mrs. Clark Howell, Jr., opposed the celebration in May in view of the fact that there could not be a general representa tion of the state militia, those representing the agricultural interests of the state and those representing the educational interests. She observed that the exposition would scarcely have reached that state of completion in May that might be expected in June, and referred to the fact that there would be some difficulty in alsing, by the date suggested in May, the necessary funds for carrying out the plans proposed for the observance of Georgia day.

Mrs. William H. Felton expressed herself as considering a later date than May a better one in recognition of the ability of the country people to leave their crops at an earlier time.

Rut the heat which seems to be so greatly feared in Nashville by many, at any time after May, divided the meeting almost equally, and though frequent voting was resorted to, no decision could be reached in favor of a date for Georgia

Mrs. Nellie Peters Black spoke forcibly in favor of May, also Mrs. Isaac Boyd. Mrs. W. B. Lowe observed aptly that the military only turned out on very hot days any way, and that any Georgia day, whether in May or June. was liable to be of equal heat. She introduced a resolution that some day should be selected between June 23d and July 3d. The resolution was carried and Captain Brown will at once communicate with the governor and Colonel Nesbitt. In view of the resolution passed by the ladies it is probable some day the last part of June, when a large representation of the military may be assured, will be the date selected for Geor-

Mrs. Atkinson's Resolution. By special request the resolutions pre-pared by Mrs. W. Y. Atkinson in reference to the observance of Georgia day were read by Mrs. W. H. Felton. They were:

"1. That the president and secretary of the state board of commissioners be requested to communicate with Adjutant General O. J. Brown, also with the officers of the various military organizations of this state, urging that their respective organizations attend the Tennessee Centennial on Georgia day.

"2. That letters be written to the presidents of every college in the state involving the faculties and students to attend in bodies on Georgia day.

"3. That similar letters be written to the president of all boards of trade and chambers of commerce in the state soliciting that their bodies attend the Tennessee Centennial on Georgia day.

"4. That letters be written to the mayor of each city and as many towns as possible urging that their respective town be represented by their officials and a body of citizens.

"5. That in addition to the corresponding to the observance of Georgia day were resented by their officials and a body of citizens.

"5. That in addition to the corresponding done by the president and secretary, that the members of the board from each congressional district be requested to communicate with each of the above named bodies and office is located within their districts, and aid in securing their co-operation in making Georgia day a success.

"6. That whoever may be hereafter selected as marshals of the day be requested to so arrange the parade that each of the above organizations and institutions be assigned to its appropriate position.

"7. That a committee of three be appointed from the Atlanta committee to co-operate with the commissioner of agriculture in securing the lowest possible rates on the ratiroads for those who attend the Tennessee Centennial on Georgia day.

"To be respectfully submitted to the board of commissioners on Wednesday.

April 18th. MRS. W. Y. ATKINSON."

THE PERSON NAMED AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON O tion with them Mrs. Louile M. Gordon offered the following resolutions which were

"Resolved, That the supreme judges and general judiciary of the state be invited to be present on Georgia day, at Tennessee. "Resolved, also, That the Georgia Woman's Press Club, the Georgia Press Association, the Georgia Weekly Press Association be invited to be present on Georgia day in Tennessee."

The Constitution's Offer.

Mrs. A. B. Steele put before the entire board the generous offer made by The At-anta Constitution, by which that paper extended to the lady commissioners at large from the state of Georgia, the representatives from the congressional districts and the Aflanta woman's board the proceeds of a woman's supplement to be issued with the regular morning edition at any date that the ladies might select.

Mrs. W. B. Lowe offered a resolution that the offer be accepted which resolution was

Mrs. W. B. Lowe offered a resolution that the offer be accepted, which resolution was passed. Mrs. Nellie Peters Black suggested that the board signify their appreciation by a rising vote, and the following resolution was offered by Mrs. Loulie Gordon, and Georgia Women Honored. Harper's Weekly of this week publishes the photographs of Mrs. W. B. Lowe, president of the Georgia federation, and Mrs.

John King Ottley, president of the Atlanta Woman's Club. Accompanying the photographs was the following compliment-tions is that which brings the women's clubs of Georgia into helpful consolidation. Founded only last September, it has in these few months developed a most prom ising activity, a condition which is largely to the energy of its president, Mrs. B. Lowe. Mrs. Lowe had just demonstrated her organizing ability in the brilliant Atlanta Woman's Club, then barely a year old. In the founding of this club she had taken the initiative, and its records now, after a year's time, show a mem-bership of over 100, while it is working hand in hand with some twenty other clubs in the state federation. She was still in office as its first president when the state organization unanimously made her its an admirable presiding officer and gifted with the tact and judgment needed in the responsible position which she holds. Upon Mrs. John King Ottley, of the Atlanta its high position and splendidly carried forward its work, which for the present lies along civic and philanthropic lines.

Queen Estber Boxes.

The brilliancy of the cantata of Queen Esther, to be given at the Grand next week, is assured in the success of the rehearsals being carried on regularly. The chorus will be the largest ever appearing on an will be the largest ever appearing on an Atlanta stage, including as it does, some 125 voices. From a social standpoint the 125 voices. From a social standpoint the event seems a success from the list of boxes already disposed of. Among those who have taken them are: Mr. R. F. Shedden, Mrs. Louile Gordon, Mr. William Kiser, Mr. Miles, Miss Mary Burt Howard, Mr. Willis Ragan, Dr. Frank Holland, Mrs. Clarence Angier, Mr. Richard Gray, Mr. John Grant and Mr. Albert Howell, Jr.

Cobb-Leake.

The wedding of Miss Maud Leake and Mr. Hardon Cobb occurred last night at the beautiful home of the bride's parents on Peachtree street. About 200 guests were present and the occasion was dis-tinguished as being one of the most beautiful of home weddings. The entire home presented a scene of artistic decoration, where palms were in luxurious prefusion. Through a passage way formed of them the bridal party proceeded to the drawing room, where the ceremony was performed. An altar before which the happy couple stood was lovely in its adornment lilies of the valley. The guest cards were artistic in decoration and every appointment of the room bore out the view of elegance and good taste.

The ceremony was performed promptly at 8:30 o'clock by Dr. Heldt, and during the impressive benediction the orchestra without rendered appropriate musical selections. The maid of honor, Miss Emily English, stood next to the bride and the groom was attended by his best man, Dr. Bizzel. The bridesmaids were: Misses May Burt Howard, Ida Ryan, Emmie May Burden and Mary Ella Yancey. The groomsmen were: Messrs. Mays Ball, Harry English, T. E. Quimby and Mr. Anderson.

The bride's gown was a marvel of chaste elegance. The material was of white peau de soie, the corsage heavily trimmed in silk muslin and point duchesse lace. A diamond star, the gift of the groom, adjusted her wedding veil and her bouquet was composed of orchids and lilies of the valley.

The flerce war the brick masons of the city are waging against, the contractors for nine hours' work a day instead of ten, is continuing with increased vigor, and gives promise of being one of the most hotly contested labor controversies ever fought in this city.

In all there are about 200 brick layers who have quit work. They are holding enthusiastic meetings at their headquarters. 331/2 Marietta street, and have determined they have won their point. Some of the contractors have already signed the scale demanded by the laborers, but the majority remain firm. They say the brick masons may strike as much as they please, and that it will be an easy matter to get any amount of men in their

Mr. M. T. He has advertised all over the south for new men, and judging from the replies he received yesterday he will have more than enough brick masons here this morning to fill the places of the forty nen who left him. When seen yesterday afternoon Mr. Lewman did not seem to be in the least worried over his predicament, only that he re-grets he is forced to employ outside labor. He stated he could get all the men he wanted witthout trouble, and that his con tract would not suffer from the delay. Work at a Standstill.

Agreement, but There Is No Decision Against Organization.

The executive board of the Southern States Freight Association will meet In Atlanta next Wednesday.

This conference will determine the polley of the association pending the hearing of the Joint Traffic Association case. As the lines in that organization have decided to hold together during the summer and fall, the roads in the south may take a similar course. The Joint Traffic Associa tion had as counsel three of the ablest awyers in America-Ex-Senator Edmunds, Ex-Minister Phelps and James C. Carter. These lawyers advised the mempers of the association to stick to their agreement to maintain rates. Two courts have decided that the Joint Traffic agreement is legal. No court has ever decided adversely in the case, Therefore, the agreement is legal, the attorneys

Mr. Scull says that he would not serve in an inferior position under an official who had just been his equal in rank. Mr. Scull also says that it is evidently the purpose of the management to make radi-cal changes in the passenger organization, and he declines to be the headsman. Paine, Murphy & Co.'s Cotton Letter. Atlanta, April 14.—The Liverpool market opened fairly strong with sales of 12,000 bales and a slight advance in futures. The New York market followed with an adon light business of from 3 to 5. Transactions were light, and conpoints. Transactions were light, and consisted largely in exchanges of present crop months to those of next crop in futures. Little or no speculation is evident at the moment. Quite a sale of cotton goods at auction was held in New York yesterday, which was considered a success, the prices reaching from 5½ to 7 per cent of regular trade figures. All the large houses of the country were represented at the sale, which is the largest one of its kind since 1894. Flood news is more favorable, but the weather is not particularly good for planting. Liverpool closes from Friday till Tuesday. News from Crete indicates that war will be averted and we expect to see a hisher and more active market after the Easter holidays. Port receipts 2,964. exainst 5,189 last year. Houston expects 500 to 1,000, against 1,045. New Orleans 2,500 to 3,000, against 134 in 1896. New York spots quiet and unchanged; sales 172 bales. Atlanta April 14.—The cotton market in New Orleans has shown a steady undertone most of the session. The Liverpool advices continued of a favorable character. Futures showed an improvement of 1½ to 2 points, the latter on the near positions, while spinners tooki2,000 bales at firm prices; middling 4 3-32d—unchanged from yesterday. In the New York market the chief influence has been the better spot demand. Sales were liberal for this time of the season. New Orleans soid 8,600 bales at 7 3-16c, of 1-16c advance, and New York 172 at 77-16c. In addition thereto the news from the eastern belt showed further pains, while the river news was not of a favorable character. At the best the market showed an improvement of 6 to 7 points. sisted largely in exchanges of present crop favorable character. At the best the market showed an improvement of 6 to 7 points in New Orleans, but lost part of the improvement on what was said to be an unsatisfactory auction sales at New York of 22,000 pieces of dry goods and upon the reported failure of the Columbia and Bennett mills, at New Bedford, Mass., a joint stock concern. The close was quiet, to 6 points advance on the day—7.02 for May and 6.80 for October.

Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter. Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, April 14.—(Special.)—The cotton market was dull again today. Liverpool surprised the trade by advancing 2-64d this morning. The spot sales there were again large. The market here was favorably affected by the Liverpool dispatch and opened 4 points higher than the close last night. The business was a shade more general, and it looked for a while as if we were to have a little life to the market, but the trading soon became listless and the changes during the day were insignificant. May opened at 7.10, advanced to 7.13, declined to 7.1), again advanced to 7.13 and closed at 7.12@7.13 with the market steady. The weekly Fovenment report today was not favorable. We can see nothing on which to base expectations of lower prices. The exchange will be closed on Friday and Saturday of this week.

New York. April 14.—Liverpool opened quiet and steady; sales 1,000 bales; middling 4 3-32d; last year 4 %d. Futures were steady, buyers at last night's prices, and closed quiet and steady. Manchester quoted yarns more slowly; cloths, orders at low limits. Our market opened with sales of May at 7.10g7.11, and after selling at 7.13 ruled at 7.11 at 1 p. m. The same features which have been dominating the market during the past week are repeated to-day—namely, an excellent demand in Liverpool for Manchester that has advanced the arrival market untill all the deliveries are selling at above 4d. At home this demand has advanced the southern markets to a higher point than our own as, in addition to the export demand, the American spinners have appeared as buvers on a moderate scale. Locally the market opened steady with a fair demand, which was supplied by the local operators and lost a portion of the advance on reports that the sales of cotton fiannels at auction today were not satisfactory. This report was denied, but in the lack of speculation the market relapsed into dullness. Latest reports state that prices are 5 to 7½ per cent below the regular price, which should be a satisfactory result of an auction sale. Rains were predicted for the Mississippi valley today and tonight. The government

Prime's Crop Summary. Frime's Grop Summary.

From The New York Stockholder.

Dwight, Ili., April 11.—Very iittle if any progress has been made with the seeding of the spring crops curring the first ten days of April, and we stand literally "pat." not contending so much with storms as the result of heavy snow falls during the winter and heavy rains during March. The earth has taken up about all the moisture it can possibly absorb, and we are just now waiting for clear skies, higher degree of temperature and the passing off of the floods. ing for clear skies, higher degree of temperature and the passing off of the floods.

All the seeding that has been done this week has consisted of a little oats put in in Illinois, some in Nebraska and some in Kansas. Possibly 25 per cent to 30 per cent of the crop seeded. It is not too late yet to get in a crop of oats in good time, and to look forward to good returns.

The spring wheat districts, with the exception of Nebraska, have been at a perfect standstill, although we had intelligence yesterday that on some high knolls in Dakota a little wheat had been mudded in the ground. But the amount was so insignificant that it holds no percentage to the great area of this crop which is yet to be seeded.

great area of this crop which is yet to be seeded.

As I have said before with reference to spring wheat seeding, our machinery is so perfect that immense areas of wheat can be put into the ground in a single day with the improved implements now in use. Hence farmers do not worry as they used to ten or fifteen years ago about getting in their crops late. Then the largest proportion of the seeding was done by hand, when eight to ten acres of hand sowing was considered a good day's work. Now one man with machinery can put in from twenty-five to thirty acres a day and do it in better shape than when it used to be sown by hand.

The winter wheat crop of the Ohio river has made very little growth during the present month. At the same time it has had everything in its favor, which goes to show that with the favorable surroundings wheat ought to be doing better today in the ground than it is.

It has been practically at astandstill the ground than it is.

It has been practically at astandstill the resent week and those areas—Illinois, Indiana and Ohio—where the crop reports have not been up to an average still continue in the same condition, hardly holding their own.

their own.
There has been no change either one way or the other in Ohio and Michigan, and the last few days reports from Kansas have not been as favorable as they were twenty days

son. South of the Tilo river. Tennessee and Kentucky, wheat seems to be all right. In the Indian Territory and Oklahoma the wheat now is about six inches high. It is too early yet to more than mention the outlook for the prenaration and planting of the corn cron. The fact if plenty of moisture in the ground is a feverable omen for a good stand of corn. All the country needs now is a week of good dry weather. That would carry us to the middle of April and another week which would finish the out seeding, and by the last week in April plowing and planting of corn would commence.

FEARS OF PANIC ABROAD

Rumors Could Not Be Confirmed and Wheat Closed at the Highest Point of the Day.

New York, April 14.—Morning re-riew: The failure of the London market to respond to the sharp market to respond to the shar pressing influence at the opening, which was intensified by the heavy realizing in Sugar, that stock losing 1½ per cent. The transactions in Sugar were enormous in volume, one block of 2,500 shares being sold at 113, and several 1,000 share lots went at the same price. Pound amounts of Sugar and Chicago Gas were offered, depressing those shares 2½ to 112½ and 2½ to 82 respectively. The absence of the active support that has been centered in these properties encouraged the bears to extend their lines with considerable freedom. Sugar was partly affected by a fur-ther reduction of %c in certain grades of the refined product. The weakness in these shares extended to the general market but the losses did not exceed fractions in the active group with Reading, New Jersey, Gentral, St. Paul, Tennessee Coal and Burlington leading. Minnesota iron ex-ceptionally fell 3 per cent on light offerings. The Vanderbilt shares moved narand displayed considerable resistance to the selling movement. The reactionary movement was stemmed after 11 gains being most marked in the stocks that had been depressed. The market, however, lapsed into dullness at the im-provement, and there appeared to be a disposition on the part of traders to awalt developments in the more speculative shares. There were purchases for London account on the break in prices, the parity of London prices remaining higher for many of the leading international shares. The bond market held generally firm with trading meager.

Sales of stock to noon 138,700 shares. Closing review: The appearance of awak-ened interest in stock dealings on the stock exchange today was apparent rather than real. The total sales ran up to 230,000 shares, but Chicago Gas and Sugar absorbed 122,000 shares of these, Chicago Gas being the leader with over 65,000 shares, and Burlington, St. Paul and New York eCntral and Reading were credited with nearly 50,000 more. The heavy volume of dealings in these specialties were almost wholly professional, and outside interest in the market was practically nothing. Governments ruled firm, with purchases of $12,000. Money on call easier at 11/01% per cent; last loan at 11/2, closing 11/01% per cent; prime mercantile paper 31/204 per cent. Sterling exchange steady with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.87% for demand and $4.86@4.86% for sixty days; post-

Will Issue Bonds.

New York, April 1:.—The New York Central has arranged for the sale of $13,000,000 of 3½ per cent 100-year gold bonds and the New York and Harlem for $12,000,900 of the same class of bonds. These bonds will be used to retire or convert the prosent bonded debt of the companies, and will thereafter become a first lien on the companies. The New York Central reserves $15,500,000 of its bonds for new construction after 1903. It is announced that meetings of the stockholders will be held to ratify the mortgages of the New York Central on May 25th and of the New York and Harlem on May 18th.

consols and home rails had the best market.

Details of the funding scheme are expected tomorrow. Those who took a hopeful view of Americans believe that the time is coming when these funding schemes will be properly appreciated, and be the occasion of a sharp stimulus to shares.

Kaffirs have been flat on forced sales, but the close was materially better and firm in tone. Gold was in strong demand. Of today's movement, 300,000 pounds was for Japan and 50,000 pounds for Australia. The Parls and Berlin markets were firm, but the close was under the best.

London, April 14.—In the stock market today Kaffirs, or south African mining and other securities continued very flat and nervous and were generally lower. There were a number of alarming rumors circulating, one of them being that one of the biggest companies was in difficulty and another referred to forced sales for a large Johannesburg speculator. Still another rumor was that the consolidated gold fields was issuing fresh capital.

Paine, Murphy & Co.'s Stock Letter. Atlanta, April 14.—The stock market was irregular and in the last hour it gave way sharply on a renewal of bear attack. The announcement of the refunding plan of New York Central gave a midday firm-ness to values. It appeared to be utilized for profit taken as that stock fell over a point fro.n the best figures.

The weakest feature of the market was Sugar, which lost over 2 per cent on diqui dation, credited to a plunging operator, who has recently been operating from the west. Chicago Gas broke 3 per cent and rallied feebly. It was sold on a legislative development at Springfield, Ills, which, however, do not affect the contract of the company with the city of Chicago.

The shares of the anthracite coalers yield-ed easily to bear pressure, but the general railway list lost no important ground. The market closed fairly steady at some

CHICAGO WAS ALSO WEAK

The Railway List Lost No Important Ground---Market Closed Fairly Steady at Some Recovery.

Chicago. April 14,-Wheat was weak at the start today and strong at the finish, closing at 1/2c advance. A good export business was responsible for the rally. Corr and oats trailed along after wheat, but did not have so much vitality, oats closing unchanged and corn a shade lower. Provisions declined 2½@10c. Wheat speculators were rather at a loss which way to turn at the opening today. Right at the start the tone was firm, and some of the early transactions were at the close last night, the strength being due to the unexpected action of the Liverpool market, which was ¼ to ¾d higher, not-withstanding the drop of ¾c here yesterday. This brought a momentary rush of buying orders, and for a short time the feeling seemed firm. But the trade soon be gan to suspect manipulation abroad, and the buyers got more cautious. Then came rumors of the failure of Barney Barnato, the great Kaffir stock operator of London, and south Africa, and in anticipation of a possible business panic abroad, the spec ulative feeling turned bearish. The reported failure, however, was not confirm Perhaps the principal bear factor was the fair weather west. Reports of rain doing heavy damage made some of the bear apprehensive, as when at last the sun burst through the clouds it gave the bears renewed courage. St. Louis was a heavy seller this morning. The western receipts were much lighter, Minneapolis and Duluth getting 293 cars, against 504 the day before, 263 a week ago and 349 the corre sponding day last year. Liverpool opened at from 1/2 to 3/d per cental higher. The evport buisness, which New York confirmed as having been done yesterday, amounted to 400,000, and within an hour after the be gining of today's session, fifteen boatloads of fresh business was reported. Duluth advised sales made today of 150,-

000 bushels wheat May wheat, which closed yesterday at 67%@67%c, opened with sellers and sales at from 67% to 67%c, and in the course of half an hour the price had receded to 66%@66%c. It started upward from the latter point, and through much oppositio it forced its way, very little at a time, until it got to 68%c, just at the close

The improvement in the weather started corn weak, and the market remained in that condition all the morning. An improvement started on the small estimated receipts for tomorrow, the rally being helped by the late strength in wheat, and nearly all of the early loss was recovered. Export clearances were reported at 441,000 bushels. May started unchanged at 23% 23%c, dropped to 23%c and rallied to 23%c, where it closed.

Oats started weak on the clear weather, which was assisted by a disposition among the shorts to sell. Later on in the day sympathy with wheat and better buying generally caused a reaction. At the close values were just where they started. A good business was transacted. Exports amounted to 70,000 bushels. May opened a shade lower at 16%@16%c declined to 16%c and closed Provisions were dull and easier, with business confined to local traders. The opening was lower on the weak hog market and further declines ensued. Some rallies occurred late in the day in sympathy with the grain markets. At the close May pork was 10c lower at $8.27\%; May lard 5c lower at $4.16\(\text{04.17\%}\) and May ribs a shade lower at $6.62\%.

Paine, Murphy & Co.'s Grain Letter.

Atlanta, April 14.—Notwithstanding the fact that Liverpool was %d higher this morning, in the face of a decline in Chicago yesterday, our market sold off about 1/2c right after the opening, on quite free offerings by local and St. Louis parties. There was but little interest manifested up thi noon, when shorts attempted to cover some wheat, causing an advance of over 1c per bushel from the low point. There has been an exceedingly good cash business in Chicago, the sales being placed as high as 100,000 bushels, a portion of which was for direct export. In addition to this, Duluth reports the sale of 8 loads for export today and 150,000 bushels yesterday. At the seaboard foreigners are reported to have bought twenty-five loads. This cash and export business has been the principal buil factor and checked the selling that appeared early. The speculative feeling appears quite firm, and prices will likely respond readily to a good demand for the cash property. The closing was at high point of the day.

Corn has been rather heavy, suffering a loss of %c per bushel on free selling by elevator people and liquidation by holders of May contracts. Most of the decline was subsequently recovered in sympathy with the advance in wheat.

The excessive receipts of hogs brought rumerous selling orders in provisions and caused a weak and lower opening. The reaction which followed was due to some buying on the part of packers. Paine, Murphy & Co.'s Grain Letter.

NEW CAMP OF YETS GANG OF BURGLARS

They Organize Camp Walker and Elect Officers of It.

W. B. BURKE IS COMMANDER

Dr. Guinn Elected Surgeon and Chap lain-Committee on By-Laws Will Report Next Tuesday.

Camp Walker is the name of the second association of confederate veterans in At-lanta. That name was given to a new camp which was organized Tuesday night. About sixty veterans held a rousing ming in the courtroom of Justice W. oute and the preliminary steps were taken to organize the new camp. Another meet-ing will be held next Tuesday night, at which the organization will be completed. Mr. W. B. Burke was elected commander

Dr. Guinn was elected surgeon and chap-The meeting was called to order by Mr. Charles D'Alvigny, who acted as temporary chairman.

An executive committee and a committee -laws was appointed, both of which will make reports at the next meeting.

Camp Walker will at once apply for a charter and membership in the United Con-federate Veterans' Association, and it is expected by the leaders in the new movement that the camp will soon number among its membership many of the most prominent veterans in the city. The new camp was organized by and with the consent of General Clement A. Evans, commander for Georgia of the United Association, and the new camp will in no way conflict with the work of the old Atlanta camp. The latter is quite a large organization and it was decided that there is room for two camps in Atlanta. Among those present at the meeting Tuesday night were: W. B. Burke, Charles D'Alvigny, Coroner Stamps, Louis Cook, James Bosworth, Culberson and others. The camp was named for General Walker

ed in Atlanta by a Detective. Detective Ed Cason arrested a well-dressed white man who stepped off a train in the union station yesterday afternoon. The detective had a warrant for the stranger, charging him with obtaining money under faise pretenses and with be-ing a common cheat and swindler. The prisoner gave his name as Tony Moscado and acknowledged that he was wanted in Charleston, but denied that he Moscado, on account of his physical condition, was very kindly treated at the police station and was given a bed in a special waiting room. He will be taken back to Charleston this morning.

Tonight at the Good Templars' hall, No. 721/2 North Broad street, Professor Clinton Gowdy, of this city, will deliver a lecture ntitled "Our Nation." Professor Gowdy s a speaker of some note, and his many friends will enjoy this opportunity of hearing one of his excellent addresses.

The lecture will be under the auspices of the Universalist church.

The Spring storms strike hard those who are thin in flesh, whose system is weak and nerves irritable. The sharp, cutting pains of neuralgia tell when the blow has taken effect. He Says the Police Cannot See Into tue Rear Alleys---Window Bars Are No Protection.

The Whitehall street burglaries which vere reported in yesterday's Constitution have stirred up the police department.

These burglaries have been the most daring that have taken place in the city for several years. There is every reason to believe they were committed by a regularly organized band, and that the men

In every instance the burglaries were of the same nature. Entrance into the stores was made by going upstairs over the stores and gaining the roofs through windows opening from a hallway or an empty room.

From the roofs the thieves climbed down into back alleys, where they were safe from detection. Once in the alleys, it was an easy matter to prize open the bars of the windows leading into the stores. Once inside, they could walk about and take their time in breaking open cash drawers and rolling up the goods which they desired to remove. Cash was what they really wanted and but little merchandise was taken.

The boldness of the burglaries was unprecedented, for after entering two stores on Whitehall street Monday night, they deliberately entered three adjoining stores

On both nights the thieves entered the stores as early as 11 o'clock, and only a short while after they had been closed.

It is possible that they were in the alleys

In speaking of the burgiaries Chief Con-nolly said:

"It is an easy matter for burgiars to get into many of the stores in the city through the windows opening into the small and dark alleys in the rear of the buildings. It is impossible for patrolmen to see into these alleys from the streets.

The iron bars across these windows are no protection, as a child can force them apart. The merchants will have to look after their side windows as the police can only give them protection from the street entrances. I have instructed the street entrances. I have instructed the policemen to exercise every vigilance and they will do all within their power to stop the robberies. It appears that some kind of a gang is operating in the city and if it is possible to do so we will have them caught. In the meantime I wish to caution the merchants about their windows which open into alleys that cannot be seen from the streets."

The Constitution Applauded.

A few minutes before the closing of the school in the afternoon Mr. Montgomery M. Folsom, of The Constitution, was called upon to address a few words to the pupils on their victory.

All the teachers were summoned with their pupils into the room occupied by the eighth grade, and the overflow took seats in a room adjoining.

To the strains of a lively air they trooped up stairs in regular military order and took their seats.

"Children," said Mrs. Echols, when all were arranged in their blaces, "The Constitution has sent Mr. Montgomery Folsom out here to see how we feel over the victory. He wants to know whether we are glad or not."

Immediately a shout went up that fairly raised the roof, and The Constitution was applauded to the echo. Cheer after cheer went up from 500 throats, the teachers joining in the applause by waving their hand-kerchlefs, and for fully five minutes the uproar was deafening.

Mr. Folsom gave them a ten minutes' speech, congratulating them on their glorious achievement and recalling some of his own schoolday experiences.

Again the pupils and teachers joined in cheering The Constitution, and then they all filed back to their various rooms and were dismissed.

The teachers said that there was not the slightest disorder during the day, in spite of the fact that the hearts of the little ones were just bursting with enthusiasm, but, on the contrary, every one seemed endowed with fresh energy and emulation in seeing how well they could behave even in the face of such a triumph.

STRANGE ROMANCE AGAIN RECALLED

in Sunday's Constitution.

Mrs. Clifford Related the Story to Her Many Years Ago.

WAS TAKEN FROM HER

The Friend to Whom She Intrusted Him Married a Clerk During Her Absence and Went to Texas.

In last Sunday's Constitution there was story reprinted from The Cincinnati Enquirer relating to the sad condition of James Wilson, of Evansville, Ind., who has been searching in vain for years for some

The story states that he was left at a Catholic orphanage in Evansville when he was a little boy and that he was given the name of "James Wilson, no parents," at the orphanage, and since he has been a man grown he has sought for some clew to the solution of his birth and early rearing without success.

His manners and disposition show that he was the child of refined people and he has an indistinct recollection of having lived in a comfortable home by a big river, whence he was lured by some designing person and carried to a distant city, where he was kent secluded for many years. Final. was kept secluded for many years. Finally the people who had him in charge grew, so poor that they were forced to turn him over to the charitable association, which reared and educated him.

Tragic Incident Recalled.

So soon as Mrs. Augusta Moore read the story she recalled a tragic and pathetic incident related to her a long time ago, about the year 1875, from the best she can recollect by Mrs. Clifford, who was board-Ing at the same house with her in this city.

Mrs. Clifford was a lady of culture and refinement and had come here from Louisville, Ky. She brought with her two young daughters, who, with a bright little boy of four years, had been left her at the death four years, had been left her at the death of her husband.

She had a friend by the name of Mrs. Yates, who lived near her in Louisville, and this lady became very much attached to the child and frequently begged Mrs. Clifford to give her the little boy.
She told Mrs. Clifford that if the latter died before she did she wanted her to leave the child to her, and Mrs. Clifford promised, in a pleasant way, to do so.
One day she received a dispatch that her father was dying in New York, and for her father was dying in New York, and for her to go at once to his bedside. Hastily ar-ranging her affairs and placing her twin girls in a convent for protection, she left her little boy with Mrs. Yates, who was taking in boarders, and hastened to New

During the first week of her absence Mrs. Clifford received a letter stating that the boy was well and all right, and during the second week she received another letter to the same effect.

The third week passed without any tidngs from home and the mother naturally became anxious about her boy. Her father died and was buried and as soon as the funeral was over she hastened to her home in Louisville, only to find that Mrs. Yates had left the city, her house was closed and a neighbor who had the keys could only give the information that Mrs. Yates had got married to a man whom the neighbors did not know and had gone away without leaving any information as to her destination.

A Long. Fruitless Search.

A Long. Fruitless Search. Then began a long and fruitless search for some tidings of the missing boy. Mrs. Clifford was in comfortable circumstances and she spent money freely in prosecuting the she spent money freely in prosecuting the search, even corresponding with the United States government in her efforts to secure the co-operation of the federal authorities in locating the whereabouts of Mrs. Yates and her little boy.

But all to no purpose. The mystery was never solved during her lifetime and the fate of her darling boy was never known by the fond mother, who died in 1876, still believing that he was somewhere in the land of the living.

Before her death one of the daughters of Mrs. Clifford died and the other married Mr. Henry S. Cave, who was for a long time bookkeeper for the Schofield Manufacturing Company, and the mother passed her remaining days with her daughter and her husband at a beautiful home in the western part of the city. part of the city.

Mr. Cave Talks About It. Mr. Cave is now bookkeeper at the Kimball house and Mrs. Cave is a lady who moves in high social circles and is well known to a large number of friends in At-

Mr. Cave was seen yesterday morning and the story as related by Mrs. Moore recount-ed to him, and the clipping from The Con-stitution shown to him.

stitution shown to him.

He smiled at the strange fact that Mrs. Moore should have so readily remembered the story after all these years, but he said that the family had long since become convinced that the missing boy was dead. He also stated that the boy would have been older than James Wilson is supposed to be, had he lived until now, as the mysterious disconvergence havened before the

to be, had he lived until now, as the mysterious disappearance happened before the war, and during the war a man had been found who knew nothing of his parentage and the family had investigated the case, but was disappointed in finding that he was not the missing boy.

During Cleveland's administration friends of the family had interested themselves in the matter, and one of the presidential appointees at Brownsville, Tex., had located Mrs. Yates and from her had obtained a positive statement that the little son of Mrs. Clifford had remained with her until after he was grown and that he had died while a young man in Texas and was buried there.

This information came long after the death of Mrs. Clifford and Mrs. Yates had never informed the mother of her whereabouts, but had reared the boy as her own child.

The two cases are strangely coincidental in many respects, but Mr. and Mrs. Cave are fully satisfied that the brother of the latter is dead and buried and has been these many years, and that the case of James Wilson has no connection with his disappearance.

Growth in knowledge is the only cure for self-conceit. Faith in Hood's Sarsaps-rilla is a sure cure for dyspepsia, indiges-tion, loss of appetite and that thred feeling so prevalent in the spring.

ED A. ANGIER MAY BE SWORN IN

She Read the Story of James Wilson, He Is Weary of Waiting for Official Notice of Confirmation.

SUGGESTED A TRAGIC TALE IS READY TO TAKE THE OATH

Business Is Accumulating in the District Attorney's Office.

PRESENT FORCE CANNOT KEEP IT UP

It Is Not Necessary for the New Attorney To Receive the Special Notice Before Taking Charge.

Mr. Ed A. Angler, the newly-appointed district attorney for the northern district of Georgia, will probably be sworn in this morning. The appointment of the district attorney has already been affirmed by the senate of the United States and all that remains before Mr. Angler can assume the duties of his new position is to receive official notice of his confirmation.

It is thought by many that Mr. Angler cannot go to work as district attorney until he has received his commission, but a number of the leading attorneys of the city say that this is not necessary, and it is very probable that Mr. Angier will go up to the clerk's office of the United States court and have either Mr. Fuller or Mr. Carter to administer the oath of office so that he may go to work without awalting his commission. Some of the attorneys seem to think that such would not be legal, but Mr. Carter, clerk of the district court of the United States, says that it will be perfectly legal and that such has been done

All that is necessary is for the appointed district attorney to receive official notice of his confirmation from the United States attorney general. Mr. Angier expects to receive notice this morning of the fact that he has been confirmed, and as soon as At-forney General McKenna telegraphs him of the fact he will take the oath and go to work today.

Mr. Angler is quite anxious to get to work as there is a great deal of business piling up in the district attorney's office. He will set to work at once when he is sworn in, and he hopes in a few days to catch. catch up with the large amount of bust ness. Mr. Camp, Mr. Bell and Mr. Rucker have been very busy since the retirement of Colonel James, but they are not enough to attend to the large volume of business hat is constantly pouring in.

People are still speculating as to Mr. Argier's probable assistants. No intimation has been made by any one connected with the administration that would have any idea of who the assistant district at torney will be.
A number of gentlemen here in the city are candidates for the place, but none of them are certain of their appointment. Among the hopefuls is Colonel Morris Macks, who feels pretty certain that the plum is his. He stated to a Constitution reporter last night that he had something working that made him think he has a good chance for the place. He said that he has several friends from Ohio at work on the administration and that he thou some people might be surprised when

The report comes from Washington that there is a strong likelihood of Mr. Alex P. Hull receiving the appointment.
